MAKE YOUR WARDROBE WORK FOR YOU

Re-New Year! REVAMPED!

November 27, 2009

Dear Clients and Friends,

It's Black Friday, but green is the color of this holiday season! Re-using and re-working what is already hanging in your closet instead of shopping is smart in so many ways. With Thanksgiving behind us and holiday parties coming quickly, it is hard not to ask yourself, "What am I going to wear to...?" Yes, it is the holiday season and parties big and small are here. Need an extra set of eyes and some creative suggestions? An hour or two of working with Revamp and you will have the outfits you need for all your events, ready to go! With photos of your ensembles in your hands, there is no chance of forgetting which shoes and what jewelry you are wearing with each outfit. Remove the stress of waiting until the afternoon to figure out what you are going to wear that evening - Revamp and relax!

As we try to dress ourselves for company holiday parties and big New Year bashes we are also busy thinking of creative, practical gifts for people who we want to recognize this season. Give a gift that appreciates into the New Year and beyond. A Revamp gift certificate to either help organize a wardrobe or to assist in packing for an upcoming holiday trip is perfect for your sister, mother, daughter, friend, colleague or teacher. This gift makes looking ahead to the New Year and one's wardrobe, exciting and new. To start off the year being organized, stylish and re-purposed in regards to your clothing is to start off the year Revamped!

Wishing you a great and green holiday season and a Happy New Year!
