

Queener Farm

2018 Heirloom Apple Club

For over 20 years the Queener Farm has delivered the best heirloom apples to many of Portland's top chefs. And, for the last three years, we have brought these special apples to apple club members. Now, we're opening memberships for the 2018 season.

Our apple club will bring you boxes of apples over the course of our four-month apple season. These will come every other week of the peak season which runs from early August to mid-November.

Apple club members get to enjoy 40 to 60 different varieties of apples during the season from the spritely but sweet Centennial Crab apples to the rich and spicy Blenheim Orange. It's a range of apple flavors that you can't get from any grocery store. We bring you the kind of apples people enjoyed well before industrial agriculture began to breed them strictly for red skin and storage life. We have historic apples from the 1500s, through cherished apples of the 1800s to modern apples that, because they aren't bright red but are amazingly delicious, didn't catch on in grocery stores.

Apple Subscription

I understand that by joining the Queener Farm Apple Club 2018 I am joining with the farm for the growing season and sharing the benefits and some of the risk inherent in apple production. By paying all of the cost of the apple subscription up front I provide the farm with working capital in advance and relieve the farmer of some of the burden of marketing so they can focus on growing wonderful heirloom healthy apples.

As a member of Queener Farm Apple Club 2018 I will receive the total pounds of apples for the membership I choose during the apple season. Depending on weather, from late July to late-November. I can expect to receive between 30 and 60 different varieties during the season, again depending on the box I choose. I understand that the variety and quality of apples I receive depends on growing conditions that vary from season to season.

In addition, I commit to pick up my deliveries at the agreed upon location and I understand that if I fail to pick up my share it will be forfeited.
