Walk: Come with Pauline and count the cats on the York Cat Trail.
The History of the cat statues in York dates back to 1920, when Sir Stephen Aitcheson placed two on a building that he owned in Low Ousegate. Some say he put them there to scare away rats and mice though it's more likely that he thought they would be eye-catching and attractive. Others followed his idea and the odd cat started to appear around the city.....
Distance: 2.5 miles Easy.

Out Now Winter bus timetable which comes into effect on 2nd October.

Meet at Eastgate Square 8.52, or Malton Bus station 9.40.

Arriving York Stonebow 10.18 where Pauline will meet you.

I plan to have a sandwich stop at dinnertime. After the Black Cat Trail we could walk the walls a distance of 2.5 miles (Sorry no dogs allowed on the historic city walls by York City Council) and follow it with a visit to a coffee shop for a drink, before returning home. On bus at 14.59 to Malton from Stonebow, York.
