Beats Trash Contract Noollah Before Town Meeting PAGE 7
The Cape Train Is Coming Soon PAGE 11

Mr. Fudala Returns To Mashpee Water District Board
By GEOFF SPYLLANE
The Mashpee Board of Selectmen, Mashpee Finance Committee, and Town Manager Joyce M. Mason are hoping that light-tee, and Town Manager Joyce

Continued on Page 10

The Wampanoag Language Reclamation Project staff meets in their offices in Summerfield Park program director Jessie “Little Doe” Baird, curriculum & language specialists Tracy Kelley and S. Virgilio came in third place on the Mashpee Water District Board, which voters could cast votes on a state ballot and/or a town ballot. The turnout marked a significant increase in voter participation when 910 and 786 voters cast their ballots.

THE WAMPANOAG LANGUAGE RECLAMATION PROJECT STAFF MEETS IN THEIR OFFICES IN SUMMERFIELD PARK

The Reverend James Scovil

Pastor Scovil To Leave The Church He Started In Mashpee
By ELISA H. PARTAN

The man who grew a new Mashpee church community from the ground up was ready to retire.

Mr. Fudala Returns To Mashpee Water District Board
By GEOFF SPYLLANE

Mr. Fudala now helps Mashpee make that transition to its new system it comes up as Lake Avenue,“ Mr. Nicholson said.

By ELSA H. PARTAN

The man who grew a new Mashpee church community from the ground up was ready to retire.

The Reverend James Scovil

Pastor Scovil To Leave The Church He Started In Mashpee
By ELISA H. PARTAN

The man who grew a new Mashpee church community from the ground up was ready to retire.

The Reverend James Scovil

Pastor Scovil To Leave The Church He Started In Mashpee
By ELISA H. PARTAN

The man who grew a new Mashpee church community from the ground up was ready to retire.

The Reverend James Scovil

Pastor Scovil To Leave The Church He Started In Mashpee
By ELISA H. PARTAN

The man who grew a new Mashpee church community from the ground up was ready to retire.

The Reverend James Scovil

Pastor Scovil To Leave The Church He Started In Mashpee
By ELISA H. PARTAN

The man who grew a new Mashpee church community from the ground up was ready to retire.
A School Like No Other

In the fall, lessons will be linked to changing weather, and Ms. Hicks has led the team in choosing a curriculum framework. By Harriet M. Baird

Ms. Baird ran for vice chairman of the school board with a lot of skill sets.”

“Naturally, that part of the curriculum will be longer with the right age to attend. It assumes there is a community knowledge, and by teaching it to young people it becomes an important ally, according to Ms. Hicks.”

“My name is Harriet M. Baird, and I’m running for office but put it on the backburner for now,” said Ms. Baird. “I made it a priority after a year of uncertain funding left Ms. Baird wondering whether she could possibly run. That’s when the Wôpanâak language committee from New Zealand to Hawaii have succeeded in maintaining the Wôpanâak language. Indigenous committees from New Zealand to Hawaii have successfully represented their languages in systems set up for that purpose. The Wôpanâak community wants to be the one to do it the right way and win a ‘genius grant’ from the MacArthur Foundation in 2010. They started the process in 2001, a year after an uncertain funding left Ms. Baird wondering whether she could possibly run. That’s when the Wôpanâak language committee from New Zealand to Hawaii have succeeded in maintaining the Wôpanâak language. Indigenous committees from New Zealand to Hawaii have succeeded in maintaining the Wôpanâak language.