

Subject line: CoNEXTions 2015: It's not too late to register!

Calling all Baltimore and nearby distributors...It's not too late to register for CoNEXTions 2015!

There's still time to register for the only event that brings together the entire openings distribution channel for idea-sharing, unscripted networking, educational sessions, and more. The pre-registration deadline has been extended through April 22. After this date, you'll still be able to register onsite but rates will increase.

This event is coming to you! Join your colleagues in Baltimore April 29 – May 1 for connection and inspiration right in your own backyard.

Here's a glimpse at what you'll find this year in Charm City:

- 100+ tradeshow exhibitors with the latest products and innovations
- More than a dozen educational sessions from professional speakers and your peers
- Keynote lunch with Cal Ripkin, Jr. on "The Keys to Perseverance"
- Countless networking opportunities—both structured and unstructured—to connect you with the faces and big ideas that can help you thrive

This is the perfect year to attend! The tools you need to connect with customers, inspire your team, and grow your business are coming to you this year. If you're ready to connect, register online today before the rates go up!

Save yourself the drive and stay the night. Limited rooms at the DHI convention hotels are still available, but they're expected to sell out. Get the best rates by booking today. Go online or call Visit Baltimore at 800/282-6632 to secure your reservations.

Hurry! Pre-register by April 22 to skip the line (and save money!)
