

The following is a list of literary journals and magazines that publish writing by children and teenagers.

Children

Stone Soup

This magazine by and for children has been around since 1973. They publish work by and for 8-13 year olds. <https://stonesoup.com/how-to-submit-writing-and-art-to-stone-soup/>

Magic Dragon

They publish stories, essays, poems, and art by young people. <https://www.magicdragonmagazine.com/submit/>

Teens and Children

Paper Lanterns

A literary journal for anyone who is 19 or under. <https://paperlanternslit.com/submissions>

Press Pause Press

This literary journal publishes work by adults and by those 18 and younger. <https://presspausepress.submittable.com/submit>

Highlights

A very established children's magazine, younger children are encouraged to submit poetry and art. <https://www.highlightskids.com/asks/share-with-us/your-own-pages>

HaluHalo Journal

They are open to submissions from anyone, between the ages of 12-25, but they "give preference to submissions from writers and artists of Southeast Asian descent." <https://www.haluhalojournal.com/submission.html>

Teens

Bridge: The Bluffton University Literary Journal

They only publish artists and writers ages 14-24. www.bluffton.edu/bridge/submission.aspx

Cast of Wonders

Cast of Wonders is a young adult short fiction market, open to stories up to 6,000 words in length that they publish in a podcast format. www.castofwonders.org/submissions

BALLOONS Literary Journal

An online journal that publishes poetry, fiction, and art that is primarily aimed at young readers aged around 12-16. www.balloons-lit-journal.com/submission.html

One Teen Story

Stories are written by teenagers and have to be submitted as part of their yearly contest.

<https://one-story.com/write/one-teen-story-contest>

Élan

They accept original fiction, poetry, creative nonfiction, screen writing, plays and visual art from students ages 14 to 18. <https://www.elanlitmag.com/submit>

Teen Ink

A print magazine and a website that publishes work by teenagers intended to be read by teenagers. <https://www.teenink.com/submit>

Polyphony Lit

This international literary journal run by and for teens is only open to submissions from high schoolers. <https://www.polyphonylit.org/submission-guidelines>

The Daphne Review

They publish writing and art by younger creatives.

<https://www.thedaphnereview.org/submissions>

The Milking Cat

An online teen comedy magazine that was started by a senior in high school. They publish comedy of all kinds by teenagers. <https://www.themilkingcat.com/contact>

The Alcott Youth Magazine

Primarily publishes women writers between the ages of 13-22. www.alcottmagazine.com/submit

Blue Marble Review

A literary journal open to students ages 13-22. <https://bluemarblereview.com/submit>

Other Opportunities

Adroit Journal

Adroit Journal was founded by a high school student over a decade ago now, and it is currently partially run by high school and college students. Adroit publishes poetry, fiction, flash fiction, art/photography, and cross-genre works by adults and teens. They have a section focused on tips for young writers, <https://theadroitjournal.org/tips-for-young-writers-ask-a-question> as well as a number of opportunities available to young writers, the most notable being the Summer Mentorship Program, <https://theadroitjournal.org/about/mentorship>

Information compiled by Emily Harstone at Authors Publish
Edited in 2023 and provided to young writers by author Claudia Cangilla McAdam
www.ClaudiaMcAdam.com