Today's Bible Question

God changed the names of two Old Testament patriarchs the first was _____ who's name was changed to _____ and the second was _____ who's name was changed to _____.

Silence and Solitude

My God, My God, why have You forsaken Me?

Why are You so far from helping Me,
And from the words of My groaning?
O My God, I cry in the daytime, but You do not hear;
And in the night season, and am not silent.
But You are holy, enthroned in the praises of Israel.
(Psalm 22:1-3)

AT THOSE TIMES WHEN GOD IS SILENT,
WHEN HE LETS US STRUGGLE AND
LEAVES OUR QUESTIONS
UNANSWERED, WE SHOULD HUMBLY
AND PATIENTLY SUBMIT TO THE SOLITUDE THAT HIS SILENCE IMPOSES
ON US. Solitude is not some evil circumstance to be avoided at all costs. It is God's will that we be alone sometimes, wrapped within a silence unbroken even by
His word.

Job, for example, found himself in the middle of events that he didn't understand. Not only did he not understand them, but the outward appearance of these events was such as to call God's goodness and justice into question. From the information given to us by the scriptural account, we know what was going on "behind the scenes," and we can see that nothing inconsistent with either God's goodness or His justice was allowed to happen. In fact, the ordeal Job was called upon to endure was the result of God's gracious confidence that Job was one of His most faithful people (Job 1:6-22). But none of this was explained to Job himself. It simply looked like a hostile attack by God, an attack all the more hurtful because God wouldn't answer his questions about it. And in the grip of such a situation, Job found that the help of even his best-intentioned friends only made the pain more perplexing. The lessons to be learned during the time of God's silence could only be learned in solitude. For a while, Job had to be left alone.

Even Jesus Christ, who knew well why His suffering was necessary, had to endure the "abandonment" of God. Mark writes that "at the ninth hour Jesus cried out with a loud voice, saying, 'Eloi, Eloi, lama sabachthani?' which is translated, 'My God, My God, why have You forsaken Me?'" (Mark 15:34). At that moment, neither the company nor the counsel of earthly friends would have been fitting. When it is God's purpose to surround our suffering with His silence, it is foolish to break the silence with the chatter of human conversation.

"The silence of God must be met with the wisdom of solitude" (Paul Ciholas).

Today's Bible Quiz Answer:

1st: Abram to Abraham

Genesis 17:5 "No longer will you be called Abram; your name will be Abraham, for I have made you a father of many nations."

2nd: Jacob to Israel

Genesis 32:28 Then the man said, "Your name will no longer be Jacob, but Israel, because you have struggled with God and with humans and have overcome."
