

Floral on Floral - Pop Collage Workshop

A Soul-Filling Weekend of Art & Nature, with Beth Melton Seabrook

August 23rd - 25th

We will spend 3 glorious days of colorful creativity delightfully interspersed with delicious home cooked meals (made from fresh, organic produce grown in the gardens at Homestead Retreat), and soul nurturing walks amidst the fields, meadows, and forest trails of the Blue Ridge Mountains. There will be plenty of downtime for meditation and reflection nestled under the majestic trees or beside the flowing waters scattered throughout this magical land.

We'll spend approximately twelve hours of this awe inspiring weekend in the Homestead Retreat art studio uncovering all that creative energy you have within you and have been wanting to express, or (for those of you who regularly get your creative groove on) learning new ways to tap into all that joyous creativity. Adding to the fun and whimsy of this art piece, we will be using special mark-making "tools" we find on our nature travels around the property, along with the bins of goodies we'll have on hand. We will learn to loosen up with our new-found supplies and FEEL more of our art journey. These will be useful skills to build your creative toolbox or add to the toolbox you already have.

Your instructor for this colorful goodness is Beth Melton-Seabrook. Beth is a Charleston, SC mixed media artist who has been teaching, creating and selling her work for over 30 years. She works from her home studio in a coastal town outside of Charleston. Her work can be found at a variety of galleries and retail locations around the area as well as art festivals around North & South Carolina. You can view her work and get more information at her website: www.elizabethandcoart.com

RETREAT DETAILS

This retreat is limited to eleven participants, Tuition for this fun-filled weekend is only $675.00. The non-refundable deposit, to guarantee your spot is $338.00. Your tuition includes: Art sessions with ALL supplies included; Beautiful accommodations (double occupancy w/ shared bathrooms); 6 home-cooked fresh & delicious meals, with all dietary needs taken in to account. Snacks & beverages are BYOB.

To Reserve Your Spot:

e-mail Beth Seabrook at: eandcoart@gmail.com or call: (843) 697-7095