

AcuGraph Meridian Assessment

Traditional Chinese Medicine has entered the digital age with the development of the AcuGraph System. Using trans-dermal screening sensors, this system is an integral element in diagnosing each patient's health condition. It creates an accurate analysis of Chi (bio-energy levels), and meridian deficiencies, evaluating excess and imbalance of Chi, and its relationship with the body's meridians (through which this bio-energy flows).

Employing this modern technology, our acupuncturist combines her extensive knowledge and experience, with the accurate assessment available; this facilitates, in turn, determination of the best possible treatments. 30 minutes per test.
