

Player Sponsorship 2014-2015

Dear Family & Friends,

I love to play baseball and play at a very competitive level. My Backyard University Gamers baseball team is conducting a player sponsorship challenge to raise additional support for our program. My friends and I will spend many hours team building, training, and developing fundamental baseball skills as we prepare for the upcoming season.

The expenses for this level of baseball are considerable. My parents share a great portion of the costs for our team, but that alone is not enough to cover costs for tournament fees, equipment, and instructions for the year, and we rely on generous supporters.

Message:

Youth programs like ours depend on the generosity of player sponsorships to make the year successful. Your sponsorship will support not only me but my teammates as well. This year teams will be competing in tournaments throughout Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland and even Cooperstown, NY, the home of baseball.

I would appreciate very much if you would consider sponsoring me in the player sponsorship challenge

Please consider sponsoring my team so I can achieve my dream to play baseball at Backyard University for the 2015 season. Thank you so much for your support! GO GAMERS!!!
