DO MUSLIMS REALLY WANT SHARIAH IN THE U.S.?
CAN ISLAMIC LAW CO-EXIST WITH THE U.S. CONSTITUTION?

"Shariah, Shariah, Shariah. What's the big deal? They just want to practice their religion freely like everyone else in America. What's wrong with that?"

Does that pretty much represent your thoughts or those of your friends? Please, please tell us that it does not. However, if that does sound like something you might say, we have to tell you straight up that you are either totally ignorant about what is happening in the world around you or you are part of the movement that is hoping to eventually overturn the U.S. Constitution.

If you are truly ignorant about Shariah law and its devastating effects on every society it has ever entered in its nearly 1400 year history, then this website will help you to truly understand the problem if you approach it with an open mind. In addition, there are literally millions of websites and pages devoted to revealing the atrocities of Shariah law, so just start surfing. You'll remember, from our previous lessons, that we are not interested in the religious aspects of Shariah, only the political – which most of Shariah is. Unfortunately, as we have discussed elsewhere, it is not possible to separate political Islam from religious Islam (as per Islamic scholars). Therefore, we are stuck with the whole package if we allow it to flourish here.

Let's say that you have had enough exposure and education to realize that Shariah is very, very bad for everyone that is not a pious Muslim. But, you don't believe that the fine, peaceful Muslims that have entered the U.S. want anything to do with it (except for maybe a very small minority). How can we analyze that?

First, let's establish how many Muslims are in the U.S. According to a recent Pew Research Center estimate, there are approximately 2.6 million Muslims in America. And, as per the U.S. Census Bureau, the total U.S. population is about 315 million at the time of this writing. According to our calculations, that is less than 1% of the population. Of course, Muslim groups hell-bent on subversion will always claim it is much larger.

In the fall of 2012, an exclusive poll, conducted by the public opinion research and media consulting company Wenzel Strategies, randomly surveyed over 600 Muslims living in the U.S. Interestingly, over 97% of those Muslims were American citizens, who supposedly, are aware of America's principals and are fully integrated into our democratic society.

Now, let's take a look at the opinions and thoughts of these "enlightened" Muslims that have fled those evil Shariah law-ruled countries that promote torture and suppression of nearly all personal freedoms (completely endorsed by the populations). They say they have fully embraced their new host country's cultural norms and mores and believe in (and have sworn to uphold) constitutional protections for all.

Now, let's open your eyes....

70% believe Christians do not have the legal right to invite Muslims to consider changing their religion (or are not sure). Extrapolation = 1,820,000 Muslims.
46% believe that any criticism of Islam should be a crime and punishable in a court of law. Extrapolating, that would be 1,196,000 Muslims.
39% believe that U.S. courts should defer (consult) to Shariah law when deciding cases. Extrapolating, that would translate to over 1,000,000 Muslims.
32% believe Israel does not have a legal right to exist or were unsure. Translation = 832,000 Muslims.
32% believe that Shariah should be the supreme law of the land. That would translate to 832,000 Muslims.
21% believe the U.S. needs to set up a separate and parallel legal system for Muslims only – Shariah courts. Translation = 546,000 Muslims.
21% believe (or not sure) that Americans should be put to death if they are found guilty of criticizing Islam or Mohammad. Translation = 546,000 Muslims.
20% believe U.S. law should be changed to allow for Muslim polygamy. Translation = 520,000 Muslims.

Wake up! The sad reality is that this info only reflects those that will openly admit to agreeing with those ideas! This isn't someone else telling you what they think or believe about American Muslims. This is directly from American Muslim hearts and minds. Hundreds and hundreds of thousands of American Muslims want America to be run just like the hell-holes they ran away from. This is the exact same way that all victims of abuse and mind-control cults act when given a choice for freedom. Truly, brain-washing is a powerful thing.

The individuals that participated in this survey are voters, folks. They are attorneys and doctors and engineers and government interns. And many of them are beginning to realize the path to the goal of Shariah America is to run for office.

You can look at the actual questions and full results yourself here...

After looking at the above data, ANY illusions that you may have had about the great majority of "moderate American Muslims" should be absolutely shattered and alarm bells should be ringing in your head at maximum volume. Were you really so naïve to believe that individuals that had Islam beat into their heads 24/7 in Islamic countries and reinforced 5-10 times every day with prayers that start off espousing hate for Christians and Jews would really think like you or ever care about embracing the U.S. Constitution?

Based on the foregoing information, we believe we have successfully answered the first part of the question, "Do Muslims Really Want Shariah law in America?" by using American Muslims' very own conveyed thoughts. Of course, there are some that just want to live in peace and even though they actually sympathize with the radical belief system, are just enjoying their comforts too much to get involved. These are the REAL "small minority" you keep hearing about – not the supposed radicals, as we clearly see from the survey/poll results.

Now, let's look at the second part of the question, "Can Islamic Law Co-exist with the U.S. Constitution?"

For this section, we could write a book, but the best way to quickly get you up to speed on how Islamic law is nearly the polar opposite of the U.S. Constitution, just take a look at the following resource:

A Guide to Shariah Law vs. the Constitution

And, don't forget about what is really happening from the constant drum-beating of reinforcement of Shariah implementation in those mega-mosques that are being built all over America, financed with Saudi money and led by radicals that have trained in Shariah universities in the Middle East and been flown into America to indoctrinate...

Shariah and Violence in American Mosques

So, what do you think now? Still think they deserve First Amendment protection? If a group started a new "religion" and said it was important for them to kill their first-born, would you support that too under the "freedom of religion" clause? Would it be protected? Of course not.

If you are still trying to justify how Islam is such a wonderful addition to America for it multiculturalism and diversity value, then there is really no help for you. However, if you are a logical, critical thinker that considers facts and overwhelming evidence to be far superior to fiction and talking-point propaganda, then we know we surely have your attention now.

One final point. Understand that Shariah law is not implemented in a host country by flipping a switch from no Shariah to 100% Shariah. That would alarm the populace. As always, it happens slowly – one demand at a time. This way, the citizen's do not perceive the seemingly innocuous demands to be a threat. And, if any heckles are raised, an immediate accusation of "bigots, Islamophobes and haters" is leveled to shut them up. In fact, hiding behind 'religious freedom' laws is really the secret weapon of political Islam.

So always remember: in EVERY previous society where Islam has entered, Shariah has ALWAYS been implemented exactly the same way. One small demand at a time until the host culture is unrecognizable and has really been changed to something that eventually chokes the very life out of all non-Muslim inhabitants as well as 100% of future generations.

Lest you think the small percentage of Muslims in America will not really be able to accomplish their goals, consider what the following quote from a January 2011 Pew Forum on Religion and Public Life study had to say:

" The growth of the Muslim population in the U.S. will make the U.S. Muslim population larger than any Muslim population in Europe aside from France or Russia in 2030 "

Still laughing now?
