

Stickman No. 9 (Snowflake) Puzzlebox

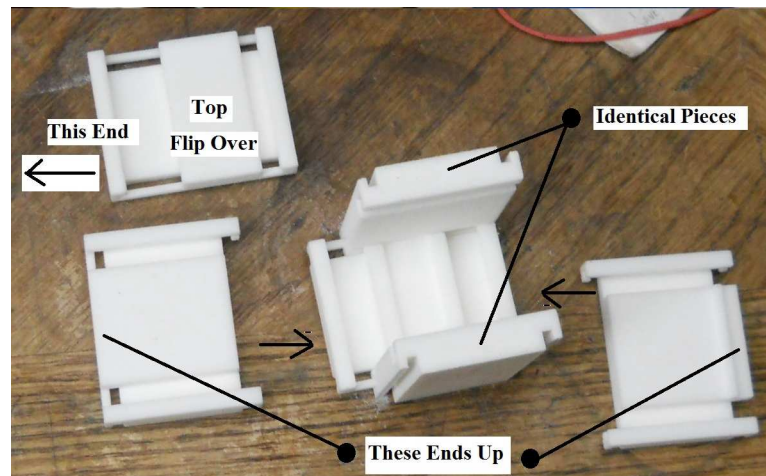

(Shapeways reproduction by Brian Pletcher)

This Stickman No. 9 (snowflake) Puzzlebox is identical to the original, but reproduced in 3D printed plastic. Brian Pletcher went to great lengths to program every detail of its six individual panels into printable software format, so that everyone now has an opportunity to get one.

This puzzle design really is exceptional and comes closest to meeting Robert's personal criteria of a "perfect puzzlebox design". Here is the reproduction partially solved right next to the original crafted in wood. In some respects the reproduction looks better because it is pure white.

These reproductions can only be purchased through Shapeways, and unfortunately they arrive in un-assembled form. For those who require it, the picture to the right provides hints for putting it together. But even with the panels in the correct positions, there are challenging steps required before getting it fully closed.

For additional details about this particular design, please see its description in the Stickman Puzzle Gallery. To order a copy of this reproduction, click on the "Order Reproduction" link.