Legend has it that William Light stood on Montefiore Hill (in North Adelaide) in 1837, pointed at what would one day become the Adelaide city centre, before planning the city. In his journal Light wrote, `The reasons that led me to fix Adelaide where it is I do not expect to be generally understood or calmly judged of at present ... I leave it to posterity (the future) ... to decide whether I am entitled to praise or to blame`.

Whispering Wall - Soaring 9-storeys skyward, the concave dam wall is over 110 years old. Whispered words can be heard from the other end of the dam 140 metres away, despite the incredible distance.
