"Happiness",
especially in troubled times

Greetings!

My friend Piper and I wish all of you a Happy Spring.

We have found an article on the web which has the following insights into helping us find "Happiness", especially in troubled times.

- 1. Down days are completely normal, and not something you should feel guilty about having.
- 2. When you are at your lowest point, you are open to the greatest positive change.
- 3. There is a huge difference between giving up and moving on.
- 4. Life rarely turns out exactly the way you want it to, but you still have an opportunity to make it great.
- 5. Most people ask for happiness on condition, but long-term happiness can only be felt if you don't set conditions.
- 6. Too often, we carry around things from our past that hurt us.
- 7. You can choose to view things differently. Pick one part of your life that you are unhappy with and look at it from a different point of view.
- 8. Once you embrace unpleasant news, not as a negative but as evidence of a need for positive change, you're learning from it and growing.

9. When your flaws are stitched together with good intentions, your flaws make you beautiful.
10. You have the ability to heal yourself.
11. There's a lot of life left to be lived.
12. You are a work in progress; which means you get there a little at a time, not all at once.
