Greetings Beach Area Residents

As you are probably aware, tomorrow is the 50th anniversary of Earthday.

50 years ago, over 20 million Americans, at that time close to 10% of Americans, took to the streets in massive rallies across the country. Today over a billion people across the globe recognize Earthday as a day of action to support and recognize the beauty of our earth.

The town of Fairfield's Sustainable Fairfield Task Force has put together a week long Earthday celebration featuring a series of webinars, activities and an amazing Earthday musical concert.
