Gospel: Luke 16:1-13.

"Trustworthy Stewardship"

In today's Gospel parable, Jesus may be suggesting that his followers will always face a kind of urgency in their own generation. If Jesus continues his journey to Jerusalem and is punished and dies, what will his followers do in that crisis? Will they be "children of light" and have the wisdom to continue to follow Jesus and his ways in that and any other crisis they face? Or, will they be "children of the world" and go for the quick fix and the easy way out? These same questions can be asked of ourselves: What do we do when crisis occurs in our lives? What choices do we make?

"Children of the light" are trustworthy stewards. We hear much about "stewardship" these days. The gifts we have been given in this life do not belong to ourselves alone. They belong to everyone. All good things come from God and we are what we are because of Him. We are called to mission, to stewardship. Like Jesus, we have to keep moving on.

Jesus is asking us about our fundamental choices and loyalties. He wants to know who or what comes first in our lives. If, after reflection, we discover that we have been acting more like "children of this world" and less like "children of the light," then today's parable can serve as an impetus to "set things right."

Jesus teaches stewardship and accountability at every turn. He urges us to be concerned for the needs of others. His challenge is that we use God's gifts wisely and well. And He gives us the Power to do all of this. At the heart of our faith is a spirit leading us to acknowledge that it is God's love and goodness that provides so abundantly for all of our needs. The Gospels tell us that there is no way we can claim to love God without being accountable to Love itself, and without living our lives in the service of others.
