MISSION

Nonprofit Communications and Media Network, formerly known as Print Interactive Radio and Television Educational Society or PIRATES, serves the Southern California community and EDUCATES nonprofit professionals, CONNECTS with media, and CREATES communications and cause awareness that make an impact.

HISTORY

Founded in 1955, Nonprofit Communications and Media Network (NCM Network), a nonprofit 501(c)(3) organization, tax ID #95-3886888, is dedicated to helping nonprofits work more effectively with the media.

Membership is open to news, public service and public affairs media professionals, nonprofit organizations and employees, government agencies, and communications firms and individuals. NCM Network offers monthly events, popular media mixers, and joint events with other Southern California nonprofit and communications organizations to provide members with the access, tools, and contacts to succeed.

NCM Network is the only Los Angeles member association that offers regular opportunities for nonprofits, the media, and other communications professionals to network and connect. NCM Network's volunteer-run Board of Directors includes representatives from each of these areas, and the organization embraces the rich diversity of our community, which is reflected in our membership and by our Board.

SCHOLARSHIP

Since 1972, NCM Network has sponsored the Lisa Davidson Memorial Scholarship Program for college sophomores and juniors majoring in journalism or broadcast communications. The program recognizes outstanding students who demonstrate the potential to improve the lives of the Southern California community through a communications career.

Visit the Scholarship page on the NCM Network website for details.
