Cinco de Mayo ~ May 5th, 2021 ~ RSVP by Monday, May 3rd

Program: "Serenity"

Guest Speaker: Richard Ojeda, El Rey Feo LXIV

The May program was selected to honor our mothers. Our speakers for March, April and May each fit Ralph Waldo Emerson's quote, "Men are what their mothers made them." Ambassador Sichan Siv's mother gave him a scarf to remember her by when she encouraged him to escape the killing fields in Cambodia and told him "never give up." He still has that scarf. Mr. Fiesta, member Michael Quintanilla, once took a scarf of his mother's on a business trip to Milan, Italy to carry the encouragement she gave him. Though he lost the scarf on the trip, it was found and returned to him by mail. He still has that scarf. Our May speaker, Richard Ojeda, will present a program to honor all mothers with the theme "Serenity". He recalls the words spoken by his mother "wherever you are is where you belong" and they propelled him to excel in whatever he pursued. Mr. Ojeda is a Longhorn having played on the UT football team in the '70s and graduating with a degree in physical education. In his varied career he has always given back with community service and in 2012 served as El Rey Feo LXIV. Black Tie Affairs Catering, a company he founded, links his interest in great food for great groups to the times he spent with his mother and grandmother preparing food for church functions.

Summer Luncheon Series

June 16th, 2021 JUNE SUMMER LUNCHEON ~ Letters to Rose, A Holocaust Memoir ~ Rose Williams

This will be a special luncheon at the OMNI San Antonio Hotel at the Colonnade.

“When Rose Sherman Williams was just twelve years old, the Nazis invaded her hometown in Poland. Subject to the ravages of World War II and the dehumanization of Polish Jews by the Nazis, each day was a fight for survival. Rose is 93 years old, but this remarkable woman continues to share her story in hopes that it inspires courage and resilience and touches the lives of those who hear it. For six years, the teenager whose childhood had been stolen from her fought both oppression and depression. She endured physical beatings, starvation, and transfers from one labor camp to another. In 1944, having been deported to the notorious Auschwitz extermination camp, she had a bizarre encounter with the Angel of Death, Dr. Josef Mengele, himself. A death march ultimately led her to one of the most despicable camps of all: Bergen-Belsen. But miraculously, she survived to be liberated. Now, her retelling vividly recalls one of the darkest moments in human history, but her message is as equally important as her tale. “

Guests and family are welcome to be included for this special program. Watch e-mails for reservation deadline and ticket prices.

“Hat Chat” with Michael Quintanilla ~ The WCSA April Meeting 2021

In April 2019 the Woman’s Club of San Antonio hosted the 26th annual Hat Contest & Silent Auction with the luncheon at the Omni Hotel. With COVID, this year the Woodward House was the site of the first annual “Hat Chat” with host Michael Quintanilla and celebrating some of the winning entries in contests past. Michael kept it lively and put it to music. He made his hat (pictured below) and shared the secrets of shopping for plumes and creating and wearing this large hat.

Orbilía Hayes rocked the runway in “Peony Perfection” the hat she made. Her daughter, Jackie, modeled it and won first place in the “Most Beautiful Category” at the 2018 Luncheon. Orbilía also shared the hat she made and wore that day, winning second place in the “Glitz and Glam” category. In her interview with Michael, the audience learned some of Orbilía’s hat creation techniques and shopping advice for supplies.

Lynn Thompson modeled the hat which she made and donated to the Silent Auction in 2019. It sold for $250 to a member of the Rey Feo Court for his Reina Linda who loaned the hat for Lynn to model for “Hat Chat”. The coloring of the hat was inspired by the scarf Lynn is wearing in the photo below and started with a plum-colored woven placemat. In her interview with Michael, Lynn shared some of her design techniques and flower shopping secrets.

In the photo below, Elizabeth Neely is wearing the yellow lace dress she wore when she modeled her creation “Yellow Rose of Texas” at the 2019 luncheon. Elizabeth’s entry was awarded 2nd place in the “Most Beautiful” category. Elizabeth also shared her hat making process – “everything is big in Texas!” and noted, “these hats are heavy!”

Tawana Timberlake strutted VEGAS SHOWGIRL in her amazing black and white feather plumed hat which won first place in the “Glitz and Glam” category in 2009. Tawana did not make her winning entry. She bought it in Las Vegas. It was the hat worn by Barbara Walters in her 2007 Halloween Show for “The View”. Tawana completed the rest of the showgirl look with her glittery gown and black and white feathered jacket.
