VISION OF THE INTERNATIONAL JOURNAL OF DENTAL AND HEALTH SCIENCES

Dear Reader,

It is indeed a pleasure to present you with the Volume 1 issues 2 of the International Journal of Dental and Health Sciences (IJDHS).

It is with immense pleasure and delight, the editorial board of the International Journal of Dental and Health Sciences announces the commencement of the journal's papers being in sync with almost all international Databases and libraries of various universities. This ensures that the publications herein will be in circulation throughout the world with greater feasibility and online support and also will be peer reviewed on a larger scale and therefore will be subjected to higher citation levels. We are happy to announce that the first outshoot of the journal has been available online since February and has been thoroughly appreciated not only by the readers, but also by the reviewers and editors.

We would really appreciate ideas from our readers about any amendments in the journal sections. The journal is intended to be a collection of authentic work, which is truly evidence based. We expect our authors to be receptive to engaging in a transformative, life-changing experience, the essence of learning.

Without the inexhaustible efforts of my editorial board, particularly in the tedious job of editing, this edition would not have reached you.

Sincerely yours,

Dr Rohit Rai

Editor-In-Chief

International Journal of Dental and Health Sciences
