About SPROG

Created by Kirkwood residents over 45 years ago, SPROG has provided Kirkwood's youth with a robust summer program that has enhanced reading and math skills, offered educational field trips and swimming fun, and created employment opportunities for teenagers. A fixture in the community, SPROG has impacted the lives of thousands of Kirkwood students.

Expanding with Horizons

SPROG is excited to expand its program: first, by moving from Grace Episcopal Church to Kirkwood High School, so we can serve more children and provide on-campus swimming lessons during the six-week program; and also by partnering with Horizons National to bring Horizons' award-winning program to the students of Kirkwood, which will enhance curriculum, increase the supports provided to students, and integrate data to demonstrate student outcomes.

About Horizons

Horizons successfully closes gaps in opportunity so students from low-income families can live empowered, choice-filled lives. Educating the whole child is the core of Horizons, driven by a belief that young people thrive best in a community of support that integrates the life skills necessary for long-term success. As children grow from kindergarten through high school, Horizons' out-of-school time academic and enrichment programs transform young lives by providing a safe and encouraging space for kids to explore their potential. Across the country, Horizons students acquire the joy of learning, the skills for success, and the inspiration to imagine and achieve their dreams.

An Exciting Partnership for Kirkwood Youth

SPROG looks forward to implementing Horizons' proven model to help students achieve consistent summer gains in reading and math of approximately 8-12 weeks, as compared to the typical 8-12 -week loss experienced by most children from low-income households. Like SPROG, Horizons is funded entirely by private philanthropy, and relies on the support of partnerships throughout the community.

Partnering with Horizons will allow SPROG to serve more Kirkwood students, while creating a stronger base of support in and around the St. Louis area that will enable the program to continue providing educational opportunities for years to come. Every student learns to swim, engages in new curriculum, and becomes part of a robust and stable learning community. SPROG students are bright, eager, and deserving of these experiences, and we believe our partnership with Horizons will only enhance the strong foundations SPROG has built in our community.
