DON'T MISS IT... BE THERE!

By Bob Epling (thecampusgame.com)

Have you attended a college football game lately?

Notice the question is not whether you have "watched" a college football game lately, but whether you have been to one. If you get the chance to go to a game, don't miss it ... be there!

On Atlanta television stations back in the 1960s and 1970s, that "don't miss it" line was the signature phrase of an announcer and sportscaster named Freddie Miller. He used it to promote live sporting events, primarily wrestling house shows, but his call for attendance certainly holds true for football games today.

Welcome back to THE BLITZ, your source for weekly college football news, information, and statistics. You can keep our publication handy while watching the game from the comfort of your couch, or when you are sitting in the bleachers cheering on your favorite squad.

The attractions of watching a game from home are many. You eliminate the hassles of travel, parking, and large crowds for the convenience of time, leisure, and comfort. You avoid ballpark prices for concessions and lines for easy and free access to your fridge and your restroom facilities. You trade the confines of small seats, loud noise, and limited Wi-Fi coverage at one game for a remote with fresh batteries, a lineup of games from daylight to dark, and the ability to text, tweet, and talk on the phone as you watch your big screen, high definition television.

Still, you miss something by not going to games.

The smell of burgers grilling wafts across campus as you meander past tailgate parties on the way to the stadium. The sights and sounds of pretty co-eds and flask-toting frat boys provide entertainment that the camera never catches at home. The roar of a riled up crowd when the good guys rally, or the muffled tension as the home team falters, provide emotion that is not duplicated from your living room. The communal revelry at a local tavern after a big victory trumps the solitude of sitting home and celebrating alone.

So, if you get a chance to attend a college football game ... don't miss it. Be there!

AROUND THE NATION

The season is at the end of the first quarter as we drive toward the first college football playoff. Here is a quick analysis of the leading contenders for the four playoff spots.

Florida State ... the Seminoles have looked only decent so far, but it is tough to see them losing more than once (which should get them in unless you believe four teams will go unbeaten).

Oklahoma-Baylor Winner ... these two teams can light up the scoreboard and in today's offense driven game that might be enough to get the winner to the playoff. The teams meet on November 8th.

Oregon ... the Ducks look unstoppable on offense right now, but must solve their Stanford dilemma.

Alabama-Auburn Winner ... the SEC West is brutal, but it is not unreasonable to see these two squads come into the Iron Bowl with no more than one loss each. If that is the case, a playoff spot might be on the line (pending a win in the SEC title game obviously).

This week's big games include Auburn at Kansas State (Thursday). Virginia Tech hosts Georgia Tech in a game that often determines the ACC Coastal. Florida visits Alabama in a huge SEC game. Finally, Miami travels to Nebraska. The two had storied post-season games in the 1980s and 1990s, but this is the first regular season meeting of the two schools since 1976.

GAME-OF-THE-WEEK

FLORIDA
ALABAMA

The Florida Gators (2-0) travel to Bryant-Denny Stadium to take on the Crimson Tide of Alabama (3-0) in a key Southeastern Conference contest. Florida is trying to rebound from a disappointing 2013 season that saw UF limp to a 4-8 season.

Bama seems to have settled on Blake Sims as their starting QB over Jacob Coker due in part to his mobility and his knowledge of the offense. RB's T.J. Yeldon, Derrick Henry and WR Amari Cooper are the offensive stars while the defense continues to be strong in Tuscaloosa.

Florida goes as QB Jeff Driskel goes. If he stays healthy and plays smart, Florida can win every game on the schedule but he has not proven he can do either, thus the situation Florida seems to find themselves in these days. Defensively the Gators have a ton of talent and potentially can become dominant.

Alabama leads the all-time series vs Florida 23-14 with 7 of those contests taking place in the SEC Championship Game (1992-2009) but Florida is 9-7 vs Alabama since 1987. Florida fans have come to expect championships due to the success that Steve Spurrier (122-27-1 .817 with 5 SEC Championships and 1 National Championship) and Urban Meyer (65-15 .813 with 2 SEC Championships and 2 National Championships) had as the their head coach. Look for the heat to increase on Will Muschamp after Alabama wins a close game at home.

WINNINGEST HEAD COACH AT ALL 129 NCAA DIVISION I FOOTBALL BOWL SUBDIVISION SCHOOLS

Below we list the coach with the most victories at each NCAA Division I Football Bowl Subdivision school through 2013. The all-time win totals are adjusted for any wins that might have been forced to be forfeited or vacated by actions from the NCAA or by the conference. Won-loss records shown are just for each coaches' W-L record at that particular school and do not include his entire coaching record that he accumulated at other schools. This list is ONLY for one coach from each of the 129 NCAA Division I Football Bowl Subdivision schools with the most victories to compare against each other. Active coaches are listed in BOLD CAPS. Western Michigan has 2 coaches tied for the most wins at that school, thus the reason for 130 names. Bear Bryant has the most wins at both Alabama (232) and Kentucky (60), George Welsh has the most wins at both Virginia (134) and Navy (55), Steve Spurrier has the most wins at both Florida (122) and South Carolina (77) and Gary Pinkel has the most wins at both Toledo (73) and Missouri (102).

JOE PATERNO'S WON-LOSS RECORD

Now that the NCAA has lifted the post season ban levied against Penn State, the next question is, should they restore the 111 wins they stripped from Joe Paterno? The NCAA stripped Joe Paterno of those 111 victories from 1998-2011 thus lowering his all-time record from 409-136-3 .749 to 298-136-3 .685. Below we show his on-the-field record and then show the seasons (1998-2011) where his wins were stripped away.
