Qualification objective

The ASQ Level 2 Certificate in Coaching Golf is a vocationally-related qualification that provides learners with an opportunity to study and be assessed in both the practical and theoretical aspects of coaching golf to developing players.

The qualification will provide learners with the knowledge and understanding of the technical models appropriate to coaching developing players on a one-to-one basis. Furthermore, the qualification will enable learners to plan, deliver and review a series of effective coaching sessions with developing players to improve their performance.

The qualification has been developed in partnership with The Professional Golfers' Association (PGA), on behalf of the UK Source Group for Golf¹ and is based on the National Occupational Standards for Sports Coaching (published in 2013 – see www.skillsactive.com).

As the Lead Governing Body for Golf the PGA is committed to providing coaching services to both amateur and professions players and coaches.

The successful attainment of this qualification may be used as a stepping stone to proceed to study the ASQ Level 3 Certificate in Coaching Golf.

Limits of Responsibility

Approved Delivery Centres must ensure that candidates understand that the Level 2 qualification provides them with knowledge and skills to be able to plan, deliver, monitor and evaluate a series of coaching sessions to golfers developing their playing ability. Learners should be supported by centres to understand the limits of their responsibility and that they should only provide coaching advice and recommendations within the scope of their ability.

Centres must also ensure that learners understand that they may need additional training, qualifications and support if coaching in specific sporting environments or circumstances that challenge the experience of the candidate, for example when working with players with a disability.

The UK Source Group for Golf consists of representation from the governing bodies of golf within the UK and includes the Home Nations Golf Unions (both men and women), the R&A, the PGA with support from sports coach UK

All elements are mandatory and certification is available on completion of the whole qualification.

To achieve the qualification the candidate must attend a programme of training and successfully complete all required assessment criteria.

Assessment overview

Certification of the ASQ Level 2 Certificate in Coaching Golf requires that candidates demonstrate competence in all aspects of the elements with the qualification and within all areas as defined within the assessment strategy. Assessment will be via knowledge tests and assessment of their practical coaching ability.

Approved Delivery Centres will coordinate the assessment of their registered learners. Centres are able to use a range of assessment methods in accordance with the assessment strategy of the qualification – see section 3. This is a vocationally-related qualification and learners will be assessed in:

- their knowledge of coaching practice
- knowledge of technical aspects of Golf
- Practical ability to coach

There is no requirement for each learning outcome or assessment criteria to be assessed separately; this has the potential to create excessive over-assessment of the learner and also may duplicate assessment practice. Centres are encouraged to assess the qualification holistically. For example, where learners can provide evidence for a range of criteria / outcomes and indeed units, centres are encouraged to design assessments to enable this.

Section2: Approved Centre delivery

Note: Centres should also refer to the following resource The ASQ Approved Centre Handbook² to assist the delivery of the qualification.

Learning programme

Providing coaching to golfers, at whatever level, is a responsible role. There are high expectations in relation to coach and player conduct, and that behaviour must be understood and supported by every learner (trainee coach) undertaking this qualification.

The qualification is designed to be delivered via a flexible learning approach including a mix of face-to-face training, development tasks and can be complemented by structured online learning. The ASQ Level 2 Certificate in Coaching Golf includes appropriate emphasis on the practical aspects of the coaching role combined with the theoretical knowledge and understanding of coaching and the sport.

It is anticipated that to complete the qualification it would take an 'average' learner 130 hours to acquire the necessary knowledge and understanding and demonstrate the associated skills. The qualification includes 'guided learning hours' or GLH; this is the estimated structured learning i.e. the face-to-face training, guided activities and pre-set learning opportunities (supported by learning resources where available). For the entire qualification, the GLH is 34.

The learning programme for this qualification should include the following key aspects:

- Initial assessment – of the learner, to recognise any prior learning / experience relevant to the qualification; and, to identify any learning support needs
- Induction – to ensure learners understand the requirements of the qualification, how the qualification will be managed by the centre and what the expectations and aspirations are of them
- Training opportunities – face-to-face training opportunities delivered by appropriately skilled and qualified tutors
- Practice opportunities – where learners are able to put into practice aspects of the training either in a simulated / peer environment or within a 'real' coaching situation. These opportunities may include informal / formative assessment opportunities to assist the learners' development
- Learner development opportunities – support and guidance from centres to assist learners in their development of the appropriate knowledge and understanding for the qualification
- Assessment opportunities – formal opportunities for learners to evidence the requirements of the qualification.

There is no set approach to delivering the qualification; ASQ does not insist that centres deliver qualifications in a certain way however it can offer guidance on good practice (see below). ASQ approved centres are able to design learning programmes to meet the needs of learners balanced with the requirements of the qualification providing the resource content are submitted to ASQ for approval prior to use to ensure they meet criteria submitted and approved by regulators.

It is suggested that Centres have a tutor / assessor to learner ratio of 1:8 with a minimum ratio of 1:4. Guidance on learning programme design can be provided by the PGA; please contact the ASQ offices for details.

Support for learners

Some learners may require additional support from a tutor/assessor or other person (e.g. a mentor or learning support practitioner) in order to achieve the requirements of the qualification. In such circumstances, (for example where candidates have additional learning needs), Approved Delivery Centres can make reasonable adjustments to the learning programme for that individual (including adjustment to assessments). Approved Delivery Centres must have an appropriate and agreed policy (with ASQ) for reasonable adjustments to assessments.

A variety of organisations provide continuing support for learners as they develop their coaching skills. The PGA, Home Nations Golf Unions, The Golf Foundation and sports coach UK provide workshops, education and resource material that can assist in the development of coaching knowledge.

Facilities / resources to support delivery

This guidance supports and augments the generic criteria for facilities / resources found in the Approved Delivery Centre Approval Application Pack. All sites used for the training and / or assessment of the qualification must meet the requirements of health and safety regulations and accepted safe practice in the occupational area.

ASQ Approved Centres must be able to provide a suitable environment conducive to learning for the effective delivery and assessment of the qualification i.e. facilities that are well ventilated, well lit, of adequate size and protected from adverse weather conditions. The table below provides an overview of the facilities / resources required to support the delivery and assessment of both the theory and practical elements of the Level 2 qualification.

Theory sessions	Practical sessions
Conference room and breakout rooms appropriate to the size of the group	Putting Green
Additional rooms as required for additional group of 8 candidates and 1 tutor	Chipping Green
Flip Chart, Pens, Post-its	Practice Bunker
Projector	Practice Ground (i.e. Driving Range)
	Sufficient supply of balls

In exceptional circumstances (for example, geographical location, extreme weather conditions or where there are accessibility issues), a Centre may apply to the ASQ to support the delivery of a Level 1 qualification in an indoor facility. In the event of such circumstances the following criteria must be met:

Facility	Equipment
Indoor sports centre space equivalent to the dimensions of a four court badminton hall (as defined by : Length = 33 metres Width = 18 metres	Adaptive equipment – e.g. Tri-golf or SNAG, including plastic clubs and soft balls
Conference rooms and breakout rooms appropriate to the size of the group
Flip Chart, Pens, Post-its
Tutor pack

Section 4: Assessment

4.1 Overview

Certification of the ASQ Level 2 Certificate in Coaching Golf requires learners to achieve all learning outcomes and assessment criteria within the qualification.

This Level 2 qualification is a vocationally-related qualification and will assess learners' knowledge and their practical coaching ability. Learners must provide sufficient evidence to satisfy all the assessment criteria and all evidence submitted by learners should be valid and authentic.

Centres will be responsible for coordinating assessments and selecting the appropriate methods for the requirements of qualification. Methods that may be used by Centres include (but not limited to the following):

- Written questioning
- Oral questioning
- Professional discussion
- Observation of performance
- Examination of products of work.
- Online learning

Other methods may be used by Centres in agreement with ASQ. Centres wishing to use other methods to assess their learners must contact ASQ in advance to gain approval.

4.2 Assessment Methodology

The assessment of observation performance of the delivery of;

- Two coaching sessions providing opportunity for candidates to demonstrate competence at the required standard provided they are performed summatively, followed by a structured 121 discussion on the observed sessions.
- Observation of the correct explanation and demonstration of two technical models of a specific golf swing or shot
- Production of recorded logbook of a series of six coaching sessions, four of which must be linked. Each session should be planned, delivered and evaluated with appropriate feedback recorded and action plans produced.

Assessor observation and findings should be recorded on a Coaching Assessment Form (template CE240) which can be provided electronically along with templates CE241/CE246 (coaching self-evaluation action plan/feedback) CE242 (explanation and demonstrations) and coaching log book and risk assessment form.

A written summative test to assess criteria that cannot be readily assessed through observation forms part of the assessment strategy. This will be achieved by using a multiple choice paper (MCQ) with a required pass mark set by ASQ of 60%.

Tutors should be aware that on completion of the final assessment feedback to students should assist their continuous personal development, or, if necessary, preparation for re-assessment. Assessment results will be marked as C (competent or NYC (Not yet competent.)) Overall results will achieve pass or fail, no grading structure will apply.

Candidates who may struggle to demonstrate competence using the above methods should be referred to the guidance for candidates with particular assessment needs (ASQ reasonable adjustment policy) and raise their concerns with their tutor/assessor.

4.4 Reassessment Procedures

Candidates who are unsuccessful in any aspect of assessment will be offered one further opportunity to resubmit the appropriate portion of the assessment within their two-year period of registration. Each re-assessment (i.e. the 'observed coaching' Exp/Demo, Coaching Log book and/or the 'MCQ') to be a FULL assessment against all of the required competencies previously failed. The assessment can be ran holistically as per original methodology if required providing the candidate is only assessed on the previously failed elements of the qualification.

It is the responsibility of the Approved Delivery Centre to arrange and staff re-assessment opportunities at a candidate cost to be set by that centre. ASQ will not make additional charges to the Delivery Centre for processing re-assessments.

All candidate results should be recorded electronically securely and in line with data protection requirements. (For as long as the information is required, usually a minimum of 3 years.)

NB. If a candidate fails to disclose a particular need prior to undertaking the assessment modules of the qualification, that subsequently is shown to have directly contributed to their failure to achieve required competencies, the candidate will be eligible for TWO further assessment attempts to achieve the required standard.

Assessment summary

Achievement of the qualification is through:

- Attendance of workshops.
- The successful completion delivery of a minimum of two coaching sessions (both summative)
- The successful completion delivery of two explanation/demonstration for two technical models of a specific swing/shot
- The production of a recorded evaluation of the observed sessions
- The achievement of 60% or more in the MCQ assessment.
- Production of recorded logbook of a series of six coaching sessions, four of which must be linked.

Guidance for candidates with particular needs – reasonable adjustments

ASQ endeavours to ensure that the assessment requirements and methods used within its qualifications are sufficiently flexible to enable the widest range of learners to fairly and reliably achieve the qualification.
