Together
TOWARDS TOMORROW
THE AMERICAN BUSINESS WOMEN'S ASSOCIATION

Join Amber Carrasco as she helps us decode new signals and cues that have replaced traditional body language across genders, generations, and cultures. Whether it's Slack, email, text, or conference calls, we are all communicating more than just what we type or say through our digital body language. The way in which you communicate digitally says a lot about you, your attitude, your intentions, and expectations.

Amber will show us how to:

- RECOGNIZE the value of digital body language communication
- IDENTIFY how to avoid creating digital anxiety
- UNDERSTAND how to best deal with ambiguity, confusing messages, passive aggressive communicators, and appropriate responses to digital ghosting
- FOLLOW the four laws of digital body language
 - Value Visibly
 - Communicate Carefully
 - Collaborate Confidently
 - Trust Totally
- REFERENCE the "think before your type" checklist

Amber Carrasco is Director - Financial Services at the T-Mobile headquarters. She is passionate about digital body language and follows the principals outlined in Erica Dhawan's book, "Digital Body Language – How to Build Trust and Connection, No Matter the Distance".
