INTRODUCTION

We have been really humbled and heartened, but not surprised, to see so many communities respond with such resilience and strength to the ongoing and fast developing COVID-19 situation.

We have seen many excellent examples throughout the county of how to mobilise help and support for those who need it most in our communities, whether they're social distancing, self-isolating or facing any other difficult circumstances. Therefore, we thought it would be useful to share some of these examples with you, should you want to do the same in your own community.

As a council we do not want to step in and take over the groups that have been set up, and many may not need or want help from us. One of our main aims has always been to see communities help themselves, and we've borne witness to that in heart-warming abundance recently. Our role is to offer support and guidance where required and be there for you should we be needed or called upon. The only positive to this horrible situation is that we're all in it together, and the collective spirit of people looking out for one another that we're seeing throughout Wiltshire's communities will see us through this crisis, I am in no doubt of that.

The government has just announced details on how to help people who need it while the stay at home restrictions are in place. Please take a look as this will affect your volunteering – www.gov.uk/government/publications/coronavirus-how-to-help-safely-2/coronavirus-how-to-help-safely

We hope you find this pack useful and I'd like to thank everyone who has shared the work of their volunteer groups so far with us, it is really appreciated.

Cllr Philip Whitehead
Leader of Wiltshire Council

CURRENT GOVERNMENT GUIDANCE

In its latest guidance, the government say:

Volunteering will be crucial in the response to coronavirus and people have not been stopped from doing this.

However, volunteering that requires going out of the house is now only permitted in certain circumstances. If you are well and are not at risk from coronavirus you can undertake essential activities including:

- Delivering food
- Helping people with their medical needs, such as picking up prescriptions
- Providing essential care or to help a vulnerable person or person(s), including through essential public and voluntary services, such as food banks, homeless services, and blood donation sessions

For the full guidance, please visit www.gov.uk/government/publications/coronavirus-how-to-help-safely-2/coronavirus-how-to-help-safely

HYGIENE BEST PRACTICE

Good hygiene is the first line of protection against COVID-19. Public Health England says:

- Wash your hands more often than usual, for 20 seconds using soap and hot water, particularly after coughing, sneezing and blowing your nose, or after being in public areas where other people are doing so. Use hand sanitiser if that's all you have access to.
- To reduce the spread of germs when you cough or sneeze, cover your mouth and nose with a tissue, or your sleeve (not your hands) if you don't have a tissue, and throw the tissue in a bin immediately. Then wash your hands or use a hand sanitising gel.
- Clean and disinfect regularly touched objects and surfaces using your regular cleaning products to reduce the risk of passing the infection on to other people.

IS PERSONAL PROTECTIVE EQUIPMENT NEEDED?

Facemasks

We do not recommend the use of facemasks as an effective means of preventing the spread of infection. Facemasks play an important role in clinical settings, such as hospitals, but there's very little evidence of benefit from their use outside of these settings

Gloves

These are also not necessary, as good handwashing and regular use of gel offers just as good protection as gloves can still carry germs, so they can still infect you if you touch your face while wearing them

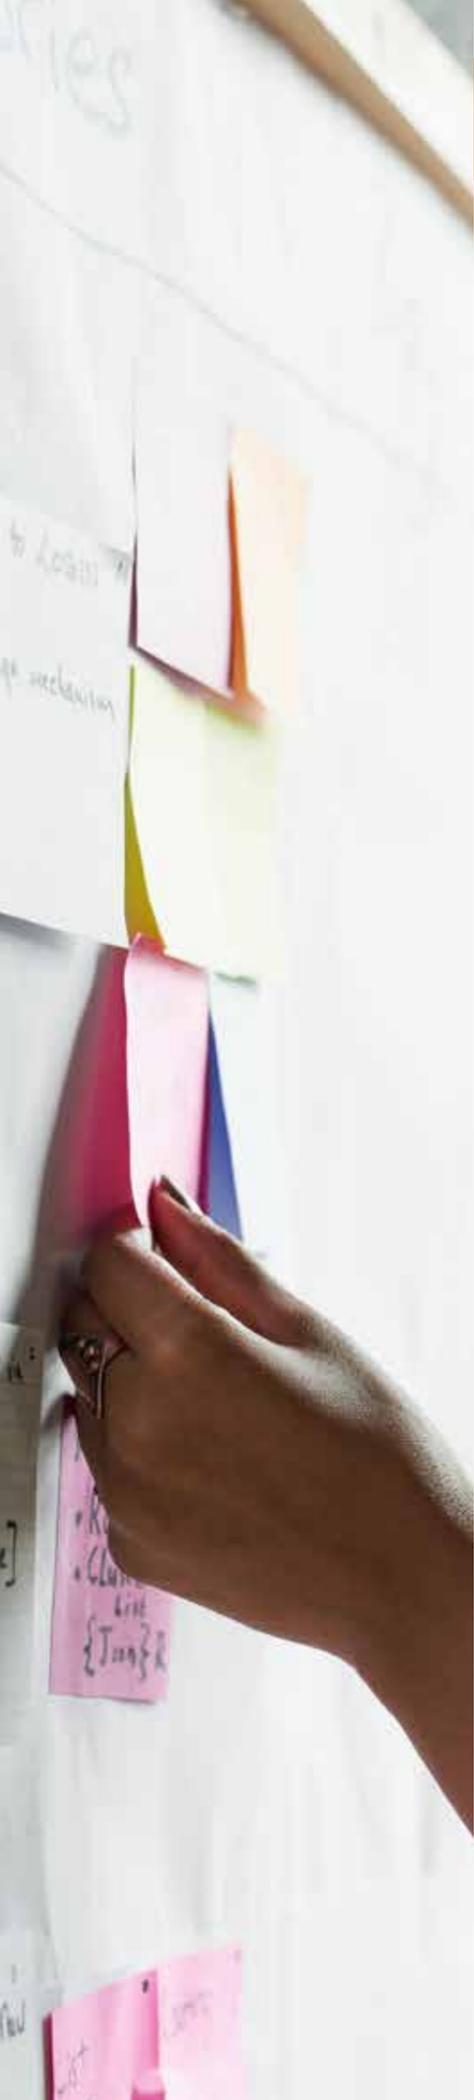

Is wearing rubber gloves out in public an effective way in preventing coronavirus infection?

Regular hand washing offers more protection against catching COVID-19 than wearing rubber gloves

You can still pick up COVID-19 contamination on rubber gloves. If you then touch your face, this can be transferred and infect you.

TOP TIPS FOR SETTING UP A VOLUNTEERS' GROUP

- Identify a core team to run the group – we wouldn't recommend one person taking on all the responsibility.
- Ensure roles are clearly identified, such as volunteer coordinator, promoter of group, link person to other services etc.
- Clearly set out your priorities – what do you want to do and achieve? More importantly, what can't you do?
- Do some research – don't duplicate the work of other volunteer groups covering your patch – see what's being done and establish what value you can add or additional services you can provide. Speak to our Community Engagement Managers (contact details found within this pack). Also, take a look out our Community Group Directory – www.wiltshire.gov.uk/downloads/22069
- All new volunteers will be supported by group/name organiser to ensure they fully understand their volunteer role and the boundaries which need to be put in place due to COVID-19, such as volunteer agreement, health and safety, lone working, confidentiality, safeguarding, handling money, confidentiality.
- Create a basic volunteer registration form that also sets out the do's and don't's of your group including safety and confidentiality arrangements.
- Make your presence known to other local organisations/ services so you can coordinate resources as much as possible – such as GP surgeries, parish councils, local charities – people will not likely want to be bombarded from lots of different groups.
- Get a system in place that allows remote working – set up conference calls using FaceTime, Skype or Zoom.
- Use WhatsApp or similar messaging services – it allows you to communicate remotely in real time – here's a useful guide to setting up a WhatsApp group if you have never done it – www.tech-recipes.com/rx/63695/how-to-create-a-group-on-whatsapp
- Create material within your local community to tell them about the service you are providing (examples found in the 'templates' section). It just needs to be a simple, clear one-sheet of information.

- Create clear volunteer identification badges/cards distributed from a central point so people are clear of your roles.
- Where possible set up a new interdependent email address and a central phone number. This makes it simpler for people. The number can be transferred to different people at different times so it's not just one person's responsibility to take all the calls.
- Create a log/spreadsheet of requests which will allow you to manage priorities and identify gaps.
- Treat clients' information in the strictest confidence, in line with General Data Protection Regulations 2018.
- Provide some simple manual handling advice to your volunteers.
- In the work you do, don't put yourselves at risk of contracting COVID-19.
- Have first aid procedures and ensure you keep a first aid book.
- Finally, look out for one another – this is a difficult time for everyone so regularly check that your team members are ok and ask if they need to talk.

VOLUNTEER GUIDANCE

It's vital your volunteers feel safe and secure in carrying out their important role. Below is some voluntary guidance that's been shared with us that we hope you find useful, particularly for when assisting anyone in self-isolation:

- Always pre-arrange visits with people – don't ever cold call.
- No physical contact with the person (s) you are assisting – remain two metres apart from them at all times.
- Discuss with the group organiser or person you are supporting, the best way to exchange money (so the process is open and transparent and can be easily scrutinised if challenged). Try and not deal with cash.
- Do not enter their house – leave the shopping/medication at the door (having let them know you are there).
- If a different help is being provided, such as dog walking, agree the terms with the individual you are helping.
- If in doubt please don't do it and never put yourself at risk. Simply say the request for help will be passed on and we will get back to them.
- Ensure before and after your volunteering you wash your hands with soap and water or use hand gel.

HELPING WITH SAFE SHOPPING FOR THOSE SELF-ISOLATING

Information from Communities Prepared www.communitiesprepared.org.uk

Vulnerable persons doorstep check:

- Have they got enough food?
- Are they warm/cool enough?
- Are friends and family helping them?
- Do they have enough medicines to last over the next few days?

If your local shop can take over the phone payments here is another way:

- Self-isolator phones the shopper with a shopping list or posts it on social media.
- The shopper phones the self-isolator and agrees a ceiling figure for the cost of the groceries.
- The shopper picks up the shopping from the local store shelves and goes to check-out.
- The shopper phones self-isolator at home and hands phone over to check-out.
- Self-isolator gives card details for over the phone payment to check-out.
- Shopper leaves shopping on doorstep with receipts.

If the self-isolator does online banking they can pay the shopper by bank transfer for them doing their shopping:

- Self-isolator phones shopper or posts a shopping list on street social media page.
- The shopper phones the self-isolator and agrees a ceiling figure for the cost of the groceries .
- The shopper purchases the shopping up to agreed limit and asks for two receipts.
- The shopping is left on the self-isolators doorstep by the shopper with one of the receipts and their sort code and bank account number.
- The self-isolator pays the amount noted on the receipt via BACS transfer to the shopper.

QUICK WINS

- Find out in your local community which shops, restaurants and pubs are offering a take-away service and collate all the details and arrangements for residents. If some aren't providing that service, could you help them facilitate it?
- Collate all key local numbers/contacts in one place that is accessible for residents.
- On your website have some downloadable signs for anyone to use if they wish to indicate to visitors their status (i.e. self-isolating) or simple text for them to copy handwritten on paper.
- Look to do relatively small tasks that could have a big impact – phoning someone who is self-isolating or social distancing just to check they're ok could make their day.

ARE YOU THINKING OF PROVIDING FOOD IN THE COMMUNITY?

Wiltshire Council is fully committed to doing everything it can to support people, businesses and our local communities through this challenging time. We are supporting our Wiltshire food businesses to continue to prepare and offer food for takeaway and home delivery – more information is available on our environmental health webpage – www.wiltshire.gov.uk/env-health-food-coronavirus. If you are thinking of setting up a voluntary or charity pop-up community support kitchen you may not be required to register as a food business – guidance on the requirement to register www.food.gov.uk/safety-hygiene/providing-food-at-community-and-charity-events.

The important thing to remember is that the food you provide must be prepared in hygienic facilities and must be safe to eat. Practical guidance on the safe food handling practices www.food.gov.uk/business-guidance/safer-food-better-business.

- The best way of making safe food is to do it in a safe place. Contact your local community centre, public house or café where they may be able to help by providing suitable kitchen facilities.

- You don't have to be a trained chef but arranging for the main food handler to have training in food safety would help you to make sure the food is safe. Level 2 Food Hygiene training is available on-line.
- Extra care is needed if you are catering for vulnerable members of our communities e.g. infants, the elderly, the immuno-compromised and people with food allergens. You must follow the guidance – www.food.gov.uk/business-guidance/allergen-guidance-for-food-businesses and training on food allergens.

Further advice on food safety, food labelling and food allergens is available at gov.uk. If you then find you still need advice on how to be confident on how to check that your food is safe, contact the Food and Safety team at publicprotectionwest@wiltshire.gov.uk

FRAUD AWARENESS

This is a worrying time for everyone but particularly for the older and more vulnerable members of our society. Communities are looking at ways to pull together and provide help to those who may need or want to self-isolate.

One of the suggestions we are seeing is to offer services to those who are unable to leave their homes. While we do not wish to discourage much needed kindness, we are also aware of the opportunity this provides to rogue traders, distraction burglars, bogus callers and other criminals.

Here are just some of the scams we are aware of that would be useful for your volunteers to know, but please note that criminals come in all shapes and sizes and can contact residents at the door, by phone, post or online:

- Miracle cures or vaccines for coronavirus – there is no specific treatment for coronavirus (COVID-19). Treatment aims to relieve the symptoms until the patient recovers.
- Home coronavirus cleaning services
- People impersonating healthcare workers, claiming to be offering 'home-testing' for coronavirus – this is a scam and these kits are not currently available to buy.
- Emails saying that you can get a refund on taxes, utilities or similar are usually bogus and they are just after your personal and bank details.
- There are lots of fake products available to buy online that say they can protect from or cure coronavirus. These will not help and are designed to take people's money.

- There are new mobile phone applications that claim to give updates on the virus but instead, they lock your phone and demand a ransom.
- A bank or the police will never ask for your bank details over the phone.
- People offering to do your shopping or collecting medication and asking for money upfront and then disappearing.

Tips to avoid being scammed:

- Be cautious and listen to your instincts. If you receive an unexpected visitor use a safety chain when answering the door or speak through a window. Don't be afraid to hang up, bin it, delete it or shut the door.
- Avoid letting anyone you don't know into your home.
- Take your time; don't be rushed.
- If someone claims to represent a charity, ask them for ID. Be suspicious of requests for money up front. If someone attempts to talk you into accepting a service they are unlikely to be genuine. Check with family and friends before accepting offers of help if you are unsure.
- If you are online, be aware of fake news and use trusted sources such as gov.uk or NHS.uk websites. Make sure you type the addresses in and don't click on links in emails.
- Only purchase goods from legitimate retailers and take a moment to think before parting with money or personal information.
- Protect your financial information, especially from people you don't know. Never give your bank card or PIN to a stranger.

Contact information:

- Please report any cold calling of doorstep traders and canvassers to the police non-emergency number 101 or the Citizens Advice Consumer Service on 0808 223 1133.
- If you think you've been scammed, report it to Action Fraud on 0300 123 2040 and contact your bank.
- If you are in immediate danger, contact the police on 999.
- If you have vulnerable and/or elderly neighbours please keep an eye out to see who is attending their property and report anything suspicious to 101.

CLIENTS' PERSONAL SAFETY

When supporting people through COVID-19 you are likely to telephone them before you visit them to find out what help they may need and when you will be visiting. This is also to minimise any social interaction with the person you are supporting which you must avoid due to the Government guidelines of older people self-isolating. You need to be aware if:

- the individual is becoming anxious/aggressive
- the individual is more confused than normal
- there are potential safeguarding issues

If you have any concerns about an individual you are supporting you should report it to your organiser who will inform the proper authorities.

Your organiser will make you aware of your Volunteer Risk assessment which covers all potentially tasks or activities you may be asked to do for COVID-19 related volunteering opportunities.

REDUCING RISK

The government says:

- You should not go inside the homes of anyone you do not live with, especially vulnerable people or people who believe they may be infected and are isolating themselves
- You should stay 2m or six feet away from anyone you do not live with at all times. Do not share a car journey with them
- You should also regularly wash your hands with soapy water for at least 20 seconds
- If you have offered to help other people, please do not place yourself in positions where you may feel unsafe, for instance helping late at night.

As a small organisation with two staff and a small number of volunteer councillors, the parish council can not attempt to resolve all of the needs of those within our parish. However, we will do our best to support the communities of ..
..... Our approach will be flexible and will adapt to respond as the situation develops and to any changes in our capacity. There is currently a lot of support being offered on social networks and so our focus will be particularly on residents (particularly older residents) who are not engaged with social media.

Our current priorities are as follows:

1. To provide information pointing people to the latest advice and information from Wiltshire Council and voluntary organisations. For those who are online we will use our website, Facebook page and (if possible) our parish magazine/newsletter to do this.
2. Our aspiration should be that every house in the parish has had a note put through the door with the contact number of neighbours willing to help. Much of this is happening spontaneously already. We will encourage people to follow Wiltshire Council's advice on this, providing downloadable copies of notes and offering to deliver printed copies to people willing to deliver to their street. We will ask streets to let us know when this has happened and keep a spreadsheet to map coverage. We will identify gaps in coverage and encourage local residents and voluntary groups to fill these.
3. To provide a point of coordination for local voluntary groups and a point of contact for Wiltshire Council and local residents. We will facilitate an initial in-line meeting for local voluntary groups and those interested in volunteering. Our aim is to be in a position where we can keep a record of groups willing to provide help and have a public telephone number and email address for people to contact with requests for assistance or offers to help and then refer these on to local groups.

All of the above does not remove the need for individuals who are able to support any small organisation majority of help to come from your neighbours.

We are all in this together and no-one needs to be alone.

To ensure that all involved are safeguarded, we need to have agreed arrangements for any contacts in providing the assistance outlined above. It will not involve anything requiring direct physical contact. As with the general advice, the key to this will be in ensuring all parties keep their hands washed.

Those requiring help are asked to ensure that their hands are washed prior to handing over prescriptions, shopping lists and money to volunteers. Volunteers should ensure that they wash their hands (or use gel) before completing deliveries.
