EVENT FORMAT

Something new for 2021. Track may adjust this format at any time due to car count or weather circumstances.

“Qualifying”

A nights practice session times will be combined with a driver’s fastest lap being considered their qualifying time.

Heat Races

Heat races will be spread evenly and lined up half inverted from the qualifying times. Finishing order will determine the feature and semi/last chance race lineups.

18 cars or less, there will be 2 heat races with all cars making the feature. There will be no last chance race.

19 to 21 cars, there will be 3 heat races with the top 4 finishers in each going to the feature. The remaining cars will go to the semi.

22 or more cars, there will be 3 heat races with the top 4 finishers in each going to the feature. The remaining cars will go to last chance race.

Semi

The semi is for the drivers not transferring from the heat races. They will be lined straight up from those heat race finishes. All cars make the feature.

Last Chance Race

The last chance is for the drivers not transferring from the heat races. They will be lined straight up from those heat race finishes. The top 6 finishers make the feature. If too many cars, we can have two last chance races with 3 transferring from each race to the feature.

Feature

The feature will be lined straight up from the heat finishes. Heat race winners first, then the heat race runner-up’s, and so on. The semi or last chance race drivers will follow in order of their finish in that race.
