Vince is a fine art nature photographer, and educator based in Columbus, OH. "Capturing nature's unique combinations of shape, form, texture, color, and light continues to fuel my passion and desire to hone my craft. Photography allowed me to create images that inspired me to explore the wild areas of Ohio and beyond." He spends several days a year instructing beginning photographers through small group and personal workshops. He is also an adjunct instructor at Columbus State Community College teaching Digital Photography and Photoshop courses.
