

I am a skillful reader. I have mastered dynamic reading skills which have empowered me to go where I have never been before. My readability scores are at the best level that can be achieved. I have strengthened my knowledge base and stimulated my imagination.

I am ahead in comprehension and application, and not the tail. I have perfect recall. By reading, I gain and retain sufficient and fruitful information. By reading, I receive revelation and insight. I pre-read to challenge myself to read at an optimal pace. I re-read to mediate on the substance of the material.

I hunger and thirst for wisdom, knowledge and understanding which can only be satisfied through my passion to read aloud so my ears will hear as the learned and my heart will meditate on the enriching thoughts that build my capacity to receive. Daily, I love to read because it has made a noticeable difference in the quality of my life.
