Women and Cancer: Courage in Every Color

Guest Speaker –

Rachel C. (Reeder) Lovano, MD

In observance of Breast Cancer Awareness Month, our guest speaker, Dr. Rachel Lovano, will discuss cancers that affect women the most, what's new in diagnosing and treating those cancers, and what we can do to prevent cancer. Cancer affects everyone in some way at some time in their lives, so please plan to join us as we find out what is currently happening in the battle against cancer.

Dr. Rachel (Reeder) Lovano is currently a General Surgeon with VR Surgical Associates of San Antonio. She is an Associate Fellow of the American College of Surgeons and is a Medical Staff Quality/Peer Review Committee Member at Mission Trails Baptist Hospital. She previously worked with General Surgical Associates, served as Vice Chair of the Surgery Department at Christus Santa Rosa-Westover Hills, and was Adjunct Assistant Professor, Department of Surgery at UT Health Science Center.

Dr. Lovano received a BA in Biology and a Minor in Chemistry from the University of Delaware. She attended St. George's University School of Medicine, Grenada, West Indies. She did residency programs at Seton Hall University Graduate Medical Education at St. Francis Medical Center in Trenton, New Jersey and at St. Elizabeth Health Center/NEOUCOM in Youngstown, Ohio. She did a Minimally Invasive Surgery Fellowship with Minimally Invasive Surgeons of Texas Fellowship Consortium – The University of Texas Health Science Center of Houston.
