I started working for Nicole Brewer and Crew part-time in August of 2016 and became a Full - Time Agent in January of 2017

Why I work here:

Our entire approach is one of industry education – there is so much information, and consumers are often misinformed about many things when it comes to planning, insurance, and investment advice. I believe if you give people options and proper education and information, and remain as objective as possible, there is a self-selection process that occurs.

What I do:

My focus is working with retirees, I typically work with people who are approaching retirement and making the transition into retirement. I help them work through issues like the timing of claiming Social Security benefits, healthcare options, figuring out whether they've have enough money for retirement, and then coordinating their retirement accounts to replace their paycheck and sustain retirement spending.

What it means to you:

How to make sure you do not outlive your retirement money and how to protect your assets from the "What If's "of life.
