A Note from Rick: Markets were weaker at TLA this week. Slaughter cows and slaughter cattle were the 2 most affected markets. Both of these markets were $10-$12 lower. I'm not sure what to expect from markets moving forward, but things have definitely been disrupted to the point that it's going to take time to get things back to somewhat normal. No one knows how long that will be, but in the mean time we all need to try and stay positive and make the best out of what we have to deal with. We've obviously had to reschedule several different sales and we are hoping that we will be able safely have them sooner rather than later. It is definitely frustrating and we have never dealt with anything quite like this. The information that everyone is using to make decisions is changing hour by hour. The one thing that is certain is that this whole situation is in the Lord's hands and if we put our faith in him and everyone does their part, we will all get through this. Looking forward to being able to see you all at TLA!
