

DANCING SPIRIT COMMUNITY ARTS CENTER

Pottery Classes for Adults

Friday afternoon fun from 1 to 3

Begins January 17th, 2020

Learn handbuilding and throwing on the wheel.

9 week session, $15 per class, plus $35 for materials.

All students will learn the expressive potential of handbuilding with clay through pinch, coil, and slab construction. Students will also be introduced to the potter's wheel, for beginning and intermediate students. Basic throwing skills will be taught, as well as design and decorative techniques for functional pottery forms. Students individual interests and skills will drive the class. All levels welcome!

The tuition of $170 for 9 weeks, includes a $35 fee, which covers the cost of one bag of stoneware, glazes, and 2,000 cubic inches of glaze firing. Students provide their own tools. All work fired at Dancing Spirit must be produced in the Pottery Program studios (no outside work allowed). Students may access the classroom on Tuesdays during the Pottery House class, and as arranged for practice, for a donation.

About the Instructor: Margie Coates is an artist and long-time member and Board Member of Dancing Spirit. Her wheel class incorporates learning handbuilding techniques, and throwing functional pottery. She focuses on form and surface decorations to create balance, meaning, and interest in pieces. Her pottery can currently be seen at Create, Art and Tea in Durango, Colorado. She has shown locally in many art galleries and shops in the 4 Corners area since 2004. She has taught pottery and art for various schools, Studio 211, and Georgia Piedmont Arts Center in the Atlanta, Georgia area from 1983 to 2004. She is excited to be able to teach pottery again, having retired from full time teaching.
