June 2022

I am absolutely excited about this photo and you may well ask why.

This is where the kitchen will be and, if you look closely, you can see the electrical wiring, the plumbing, the HVAC duct, the subfloor, the new kitchen door, the new kitchen window and the insulation are all done. The rest of Camp Centurion is in the same condition and the drywall is next.

Now, here is some more heartwarming news; ProSource has committed to providing all the flooring. ProSource made this commitment because they are valuable members of the community and wanted to show their appreciation and return something to the veterans who will be living at Camp Centurion. So, we urge you to show your thanks by patronizing this fine business.

I confess, as this project has been delayed by slow funding and the viral malaise, I have been, at times, a bit disheartened. Yet, as the poet Alexander Pope (1688-1744) said, "hope springs eternal." Perhaps it is easier to maintain hope when you can see progress toward the goal and we can now see real progress. The goal is indeed in sight. So don't lose hope.

As always, we continue to give thanks to all our volunteers and donors. If you are a veteran, you have joined with your fellow vets in leaving no man behind. If you never served in the military, by your volunteer service and your donation, you are meeting the needs of those who served you. We ask you to please continue to support Camp Centurion with your donations, your volunteer service and your prayers.
