—They have kissing fairs in Iowa. Only ten cents a kiss.

—The oldest question in the world is, "What good may I do in it?"

—Just think of that! Even the plumpest woman has 240 bones.

—Two hundred and ten thousand more males than females on the Pacific slope.

—Even fog is esthetic in Boston, and induces them to call each other "walking silhouettes."

—Miriam Cole Harris, author of the Rutledge, has an income of $6,000 a year from her books

—Signs of the times—a poor man stealing a piece of meat, and his family eating it raw for want of a fire to cook it by.

—Nothing is so fatal to the romance of a kiss as to have your girl sneeze at the very climax of osculation

—A tramp lately asked a lady for money. She offered him food. "Gracious!" was his observation, "do you think I can eat all the time."

—In Germany they have introduced a new system of drying eggs. A "condensed egg factory" has been established at Passau, with an agency in London.

—The dullness of trade leads the New Bedford, (Mass.) Mercury to remark: Ten mills make a cent, but not any ten mills in this section.

—A Rochester, N. H., woman the other day picked out of her knee the needle that she sat down onteenty-five years ago. She was not sobadly stuck, after all.

—The first fruits of leap year shine forth in the case of Miss Belle Harper, of Fairhaven, W. Va., who shot a man because he refused her offer of marriage.

—A grand oyster opening tournament is about to take place at New Orleans. The best performance thus far is three hundred and ten oysters and a split thumb in thirty minutes

—There was never a man more completely sold than the one who stole the traveling bag of a drummer for a boot and shoe firm. He got boots and shoes in plenty, but not a pair.

—Col. Valentine Baker's wife has not got a divorce, as was stated, but, on the contrary, visits him daily in prison, and at the expiration of his term will come with him to this country

—When a man empties the pockets of his coat preparatory to laying it by for repairs, there's nothing that makes his conscience get upon its hind legs quicker than the sight of the letter his wife gave him to mail two months ago.

—A young lady who writes from Berlin about Bismarck's "unfathomable eyes" that read to her "like legends of destiny," is the sort of girl that a man of genius wouldn't mind taking into winter quarters under the folds of his ulster

—The game of polo, long popular in India and recently introduced with much success into England, has been adopted in Buenos Ayres. Papers received by the last mail give an account of a game played by sides selected respectively from the Christian and Indian elements of the population. After a close struggle the former were victorious.

—There are at least one hundred congressmen's wives and daughters in Washington now, and some "apple of discord," in the shape of a Washington correspondent, proposes that they organize a female congress to discuss questions of etiquette and investigate the winter's sandals.

—As an illustration of how busy every one is now in Washington the following is told. A lady recently went into one of our largest dry goods emporiums and asked for gloves. "I want," she said, "a pair of white kids and a pair of black kids, and I want them quick. I am going to a wedding at twelve, a funeral at three, and a reception to-night."

—The owner of a pair of bright eyes assures us that the prettiest compliment she ever received came from a child of four years. The little fellow, after looking at her for a moment, inquired naively, "Are your eyes new ones?"

—Chang, the Chinese giant, is said to be residing with his wife at Shanghai, where he was lately received into the Baptist communion. It may be known that Chang's height is seven feet eight inches, but his sister is eight inches taller than himself, and the whole family—father, mother and four brothers—rival him in height

—It is estimated that every time a train of cars of the average length stops it costs in wear and tear of material and loss of power fully seventy-five cents This is what makes a conductor always look so cheerful when he hauls up at a flag station in the middle of a snow-storm to take on a string of onions and a cage with a dead-head pass

"There, Zach, don't stand so near me," said Mrs. Chandler, at a reception the other evening, as she glanced down at her red satin dress, "your nose destroys the effect. Go talk to Mrs Kerr over there, your deep red will set off her black silk finely."

—A school of whales recently entered the Dowry Voe of Shetland in pursuit of herrings, they were numerous and large, and caused great commotion among the fishermen, a number of whom set out in boats to try and capture one or more But the whales showed fight, and drove the fisherman back to the shore, capsizing one boat, the crew of which was saved with difficulty. After disporting themselves triumphantly in the bay for a while the victorious whales moved off majestically.

A DYING MAN HANGED

The Brutality of a Minnesota Mob—The End of a Would-be Suicide.

St. Paul Dispatch, Jan 30th.

[illegible]nk Hathaway murdered Miss Slaymaker, of Plainview, a few days ago, and tried ineffectually to kill himself by cutting his throat, endangering his life, and he was taken to the village hotel, where physicians attended him. A sheriff's deputy was in nominal charge of him, but his precarious condition rendered escape easy. His father and mother and an adjoining room, and they or others watched night and day at his bedside. Miss Slayton's funeral occurred yesterday, and the assembly included nearly the whole population of the neighborhood, in which she had been very popular. The fatal wound, a bullet hole in her forehead, was visible when the coffin was opened for the people to look, and the sight heightened the already roused indignation. After the services a meeting of young men was held in the woods near by, and lynching was resolved upon.

Hathaway was very low last night, and was believed to be dying. At midnight the lynchers arrived at the hotel. They numbered about fifty, were masked, and obeyed the orders of a leader who carried a rope. They entered the building at the front and rear and went at first to the parents' room, to which they were attracted by a light. Mrs. Hathaway arose and the lynchers seized her husband as he lay in bed, supposing he was the murderer. This mistake caused only a brief delay and young Hathaway was speedily found. He was too weak to resist or utter a word, yet seemed to realize his plight fully. A woman who had been watching with him joined with his parents in pleading for his life, but the mob hustled them out of the room. Hathaway made appealing gestures and tried to speak, but the wretches were merciless. The rope was put around his neck, and six men laying hold of the sheet on which he lay, carried him out into the yard. There the sheet was torn by his weight, and he fell to the ground. Thereupon the rope was seized and he was dragged to a tree, being nearly strangled to death before he was suspended to a limb. The brutal outrage is not very generally condemned in the excited community, owing to the nature of Hathaway's crime. He offered attentions to Miss Slayton, and being repulsed when he asked her to marry him, he shot her and then attempted to commit suicide.

Important to Parents and Guardians.
MOUNT DE CHANTAL
Academy of the Visitation
NEAR WHEELING, W. VIRGINIA.

PARENTS in quest of a first-class school for their daughters, will do well to investigate the claims of the celebrated Academy. For thoroughness in every department of female education, Mt. de Chantal ranks pre eminently high. Great attention is given to perfect the pupils in writing and speaking French with fluency. For those sufficiently advanced, it is the language of their recreation hours. The purity of accent and correctness of pronunciation acquired in this Institution have long been a subject of surprise to the native Parisian. The renown for the superiority in music is so wide spread as to have made this Academy almost a national one. One feature, in particular, that should recommend Mt. de Chantal to the sensible parent, is the influence exercised to form the pupils to views and habits of economy, and to render them really practical and useful woman of society in after years. Simplicity of dress is enforced by rule

These facts united to the exceedingly moderate rates of board and tuition ($150 per annum), will, we trust, secure to this Institution as large and desirable a patronage in the future as it has enjoyed in the past

For further particulars, apply for a prospectus to the Directress of Mount de Chantal Academy of the Visitation, near Wheeling, West Virginia. jan1—d2tawlr

Cough Mixture

FOR the cure of CONSUMPTION and all diseases of the LUNGS and THROAT, I say that nothing surpasses it for Colds and Coughs, and can be taken from old age down to the cradle with impunity, and without danger. But the professional world is so full of Ambiguous ness and Egotism, that anything put before the public as a safe and reliable Remedy for certain diseases is scoffed at and pronounced worthless and a humbug. I say try it before you condemn it, as I will give you the names of every herb, &c., that it is composed of, which you can examine at your leisure: Vitellus Ovi, Amygdalus Persica, Mel, Pinus Palustris, Andromeda, Arbores, Arctium Leppa, Inula Helenium, Marrubium Vulgare, Antennaria Symphytum, Durchwachsener Wasserdost, Cephalanthus Occidentalis, Symphytum Officinale
