COURSE DESCRIPTION

22nd Annual Diabetes and Pregnancy Research Conference:

Prevention - Return on Investment

The exciting and innovative program will focus on how to invest in preventive management strategies to provide positive returns on diabetes and reproductive health. While this event will provide a comprehensive update and review of current practice standards, the major focus will be on evidence-based research studies that show positive outcomes for investing in preventive strategies. National and international speakers will provide practical and relevant therapies and management strategies as well as evidence-based preventive interventions to improve outcomes. The focus will be to assist clinicians to provide quality patient care to meet today's needs for change. Both clinical guidelines as well as specialty topics based on current research will be presented to assist in demystifying the controversies surrounding management strategies. Concepts of prevention, intervention, self-management education, team management and treatment modalities for current clinical applications will be integrated into the program. The goal is to provide the highest quality diabetes and reproductive health management that can improve returns on investing in prevention.

Expert speakers will be brought together to promote the exchange of current diabetes in pregnancy management strategies and cutting-edge perinatal diabetes research. It will feature the evidence-based study results, diagnosis and prevention, and multidisciplinary team management of diabetes related to pregnancy. The expanded specialty field of diabetes and reproductive health includes the future health of both mothers and offspring with the focus on efforts to prevent future obesity and type 2 diabetes for both. Not only will this innovative conference enhance practical and theoretical knowledge, it will shed light on thought provoking topics and recent research studies.

We invite you to join SSE 2018: Prevention: Return on Investment, where you are sure to have a meaningful experience. The meeting will provide many opportunities to networking and discussions and build collaborations and contacts with a wide range of professionals in the field of diabetes and reproductive health. We are sure that you will find this to be a truly exciting meeting presenting both clinical management and basic research.

Who will Attend?

SSE 2018: Prevention – Return on Investment Conference will benefit those who provide team care based on proven research. The demographic of the attendees will be broad and extend to all specialty areas of the diabetes and reproductive health. Attracting over 200 attendees, the conference is recognized by diabetes and pregnancy leaders nationwide. We appreciate the candor and care in which sponsors, speakers, presenters, exhibitors and attendees participate in the Q/A discussions to exchange ideas and lessons learned. Our hope is that everyone will be heading back to their workplace and community with a renewed sense of energy, direction and inspiration.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 8

CHOOSE FROM TWO WORKSHOP OPTIONS WORKSHOPS 11:00AM - 3:15PM

Workshop # 1 – Diabetes and Pregnancy: Working Exercise and Meal Plans into Real Life

Liz Miller RN & Geetha Rao RD

Description:

An interactive workshop that will get you moving and creatively thinking about how to best integrate Medical Nutrition Therapy and Exercise into your patient education. Your patients need real life strategies to meet their overall demands, and the need to “schedule” exercise into their daily lives. Concerns of possible hypoglycemia with exercise must be integral to this education for success. Meal and snack planning that includes consideration of blood glucose management, family/life complexities, nutrition, and meals, will be reviewed.

Expand your assessment skills to examine the life challenges of your patients; explore teaching tools, get creative; give them real examples of how to move/exercise; involve their family life into this integration. This is a team taught workshop utilizing two excellent patient educators who will weave their particular focused skills of nutrition and exercise together.

Be prepared to participate in light exercise, you need to move too!

Objectives:

Following the workshop, participants will be able to:

1. State three benefits of exercise for a woman with diabetes during pregnancy.
2. State three complications and identify modifications of exercise for these patients.
3. Discuss creative ways to utilize meal planning into life situations and schedules to allow for compliance.
4. Identify the importance of diet/exercise balance in achieving normoglycemia and optimal weight gain in pregnancy complicated by diabetes.

WS # 2 – Using Motivational Interviewing for the Best

Return on your Investment

Susan Dopart, MS, RD, CDE

Description:

Do you ever wonder if the time you spend with your patients is worth the effort? Does the way you speak to them help with the necessary lifestyle changes? This workshop is geared towards using techniques that provide the most “compounding interest” and generate change talk or movement towards change. If you ever feel like your patients are stuck in the status quo this workshop will provide tools for how to speak to patients to create lasting change and a diverse portfolio.

Objectives:

Following lecture, demonstration, and role play, participants will be able to:

1. Gain knowledge and practice MI skills and early strategies for use in their own practice.
2. Learn the differences in “discord,” “sustain talk” and “change talk” and how to evoke change talk in your patients.
