Developing Leadership Skills

Managing Employees and Building Teams

Employee morale has a way of making or breaking a team. Have you ever worked with that one unhappy employee who consistently brings down the department? Productivity and engagement levels soar when employees feel heard, valued, and respected. When employees are disgruntled, inappropriate, or disruptive, the results of those behaviors are detrimental to a team's ability to remain cohesive and effective. When expected professionalism in the workplace is absent, the consequences to the organization and its employees unlock the potential for legal implications. This 6 hour course will examine the most common types of problem employee behaviors, review best practices in organizational policies and confidentiality, identify risks if the behavior is not corrected and offer strategies for constructively managing the difficult or disruptive employee. Participants will then focus on establishing trust in a safe, co-working environment. Techniques on managing by example, encouraging appropriate internal and external dialogue, creating workgroups to complement each other's strengths, coaching teams through conflict, and establishing cultural and diverse sensitivity will be studied.
