

Rivah Corkhill

Rivah is a 25-year-old self-taught artist currently working primarily with recycled books to create sculpture-like pieces of 3D art.

She enjoys many forms of creative expression, especially technical styles, and anything that sparkles.

Growing up in Australia, surrounded by beaches and sunshine, Rivah learned that art and beauty are absolutely everywhere, you just have to want to experience it.

The last 6 years have been spent travelling the US exploring as many states as possible and seeking inspiration everywhere from the cattle ranches of the south west, to the skyscrapers of Chicago.

Rivah hopes to explore many more corners of this county with her family and create art driven by passion.
