“Appraisal of Manufactured Homes Featuring Next-Generation Manufactured Homes”

The course introduces a new line of business for residential appraisers – centered around appraising manufactured homes

Appraising manufactured homes has its challenges.
This new training course helps address them.

A new generation of high-quality, factory-built homes is providing a popular alternative in affordable housing to millions of Americans. And Freddie Mac is making financing certain manufactured homes possible through its CHOICEHomeSM program.

The program will also make it easier for appraisers to value manufactured homes by allowing valuation professionals the use of site-built homes as comparable sales where there is no CHOICEHome sales available to compare.
