September 2013

Lubbock, Texas

Volume 10 Number 1

STORYTELLING - Jim Weiss of Greathall Productions will share his storytelling talents with Lubbock elementary students. Mr. Weiss will tell fables, cultural tales, stories about historical events and mysteries. The presentations are designed to enhance and reinforce language arts classes and encourage students to read beyond the classroom.

DON SMARTO - Author, film writer and radio host Don Smarto will present to seniors at Estacado High School. His focus will be on writing as communication. He plans to share a Power Point and information about his background, his books and his films.

BLOCK PRINT EXHIBIT – An exhibit of block prints and sketches titled Good News of Great Joy will be on exhibit at the Diana Ling Center for Academic Achievement on the campus of Lubbock Christian University. The exhibit represents a project that began in 1992 and came to completion in 2013. The art is the work of Sam Ayers, and will be on display November 4-December 6, 2013. The exhibit and planned exhibit book are sponsored in part by Bentenbough Homes and the Anabel Reid Memorial Fund.

HISTORY IN PERSON - Bill Perryman brings historical characters to life as he shares their experiences and achievements with students. He will utilize music and slide shows as he portrays historical figures including Abraham Lincoln, Benjamin Franklin and Colonel William Travis. The presentations are designed to enhance and reinforce social studies topics for students in the elementary grades.

WESITE UPDATE: The website is currently undergoing a transformation. The target date for roll out of the new website platform is October 15, 2013
