

Business Development Services

CEES-Advisors can assist your company in providing the necessary guidance and advice needed when it comes to developing your business, product or services. Having been involved with numerous pilot projects and customer lead initiatives that have involved the enhancement of our vendor partner's products and or services, we know firsthand what the industry is looking for as a decision maker and customer. This business perspective is and has been a valuable asset to many start-ups or product – services companies.

We have a unique perspective as an experienced business person and engineer. As companies go through their early stages of its market penetration efforts and seeks to capture market intelligence from all of the decision making influences in the market, CEES-Advisors, can aid in this process. By simultaneously evangelizing its solution to this market via an Influence the Influences campaign, we believe we can help out in both endeavors.

We propose to integrate our business development recommendations that best work into the activities of your company with the objective of increasing your direct sales force activities.

We're confident that CEES-Advisors we can make a difference with your company!