MASTER IN BIBLICAL STUDIES

The Biblical Studies degree provides students with an understanding of the history, context, and message of the Bible in an online format. In addition, this degree teaches the historical and theological developments within a framework of Christianity. Prepare to pursue seminary or graduate studies in the Bible, theology, church history and related fields.

The Master in Biblical Studies provides a strong foundation for various kinds of Christian service. It is designed primarily for lay leaders who desire training for better ministry within their church or organization, and may also provide supplemental training for parachurch workers or support workers in mission agencies or churches.

This program meets the educational requirements for ordained ministry in most major protestant denominations. Within the framework of a curriculum of required course work in biblical studies, history, theology, ethics, field education, formation for leadership, cultural resources for ministry, and ministerial practices for leadership. We encourage students to pursue an understanding of their own faith tradition in light of global, ecumenical, and inter-disciplinary concerns, institutions, and movements represented at Metropolitan College of Theology.

The Association of Theological Schools has established that the purpose of the Master in Biblical Studies is “to equip persons for competent leadership in some form of specialized ministry in congregations and other settings.”

Educational and spiritual goals of these studies is to enable students to:

1. Demonstrate a general knowledge of the Bible. Including a synthetic understanding of the major books.
2. Provide an understanding of the historical development of theology, knowledge of premillennial theology, and an ability to support their theological views and apply them to contemporary issues.
3. Demonstrate an increasing involvement in the local church or other ministries with which they are an associate minister within a local church or other group by means of leadership skills, evangelism, and service.

MASTER OF CHRISTIAN MINISTRY

The Master in Christian Ministry program is designed to meet the growing need of ministry leaders in churches across the country seeking specialized training in the area of Christian discipleship. It is recommended for students seeking a comprehensive preparation for Christian Ministry. Courses provide students with a strong understanding of biblical leadership principles to train up disciples within their local churches. This program is well-suited for Pastors, person in leadership roles, and Christian education leaders as well as for lay person who work in Christian ministries in their church.

The Master of Christian Ministry degree at Metropolitan College of Theology provides a basic foundation of study in biblical and theological disciplines, while also preparing students for ministry within and alongside the church. In four academic years of study, the student is exposed to the complete range of theological disciplines which include practical ministry studies.

The student will engage in Degree Concentration Courses (Tracking Courses) in which to focus their pursue of the Master of Divinity Degree that separates or individualizes this particular degree from the other three degrees that are offered here at Metropolitan College of Theology (Divinity, Biblical Study, Theology degree). Being that the Master of Christian Ministry at Metropolitan College of Theology is intended for those interested in various kinds of ministry; the Degree Concentration Courses identify areas of ministry such as:

- 1.) Vision and Values
- 2.) Victorious in Christianity
- 3.) How to Cook for the Whole Church
- 4.) Christian Education
- 5.) Christian Philosophy
- 6.) Apologetics

The concentration courses are courses that are specific to the student's major, unlike the core courses that are required courses taken before the concentration courses. These courses focus on developing analytical tools and knowledge that supports the Degree Concentration/Tracking Courses.

- 1.) Effective Evangelism
- 2.) Pastoral Ministry
- 3.) Church Government
- 4.) Church Administration
- 5.) Church Leadership
- 6.) Biblical Counseling
- 7.) Introduction to Missiology
- 8.) World Religion

Advisors and faculty will help guide students in the process of selecting a track. Students will be encouraged to take responsibility for their own learning, identify performance goals, and seek constructive feedback, and grow competent in their chosen field of ministry. Students will choose electives based on ministry goals and potential ministry settings.

This program meets the educational requirements for ordained ministry in most major protestant denominations. Within the framework of a curriculum of required course work in Biblical Studies, History, Theology, Ethics, Field Education, Formation for Leadership, Cultural Resources for Ministry, and Ministerial Practices for Leadership. We encourage students to pursue an understanding of their own faith tradition in light of global, ecumenical, and interdisciplinary concerns, institutions, and movements represented at Metropolitan College of Theology. The Association of Theological Schools has established that the purpose of the Master in Christian Ministry degree is "to equip persons for competent leadership in some form of specialized ministry in congregations and other settings."

PRIMARY GOALS OF THE DEGREE

To enable students to:

1. Develop an informed approach to the history, literature, and theology of the Old and New Testaments, recognizing the importance of scripture for life and faith;
2. Understand the rich texture of the church's historic and confessional witness to the Gospel;
3. Articulate the concepts and practices associated with effective ministry in the 21st century;
4. Contextualize biblical, theological, and practical knowledge in a ministerial setting;
5. Nurture personal and communal spiritual formation as a foundation for a life of ministry;
6. Foster a commitment to lifelong learning through involvement in educative events outside the classroom proper.

MASTER OF DIVINITY (M.Div.)

The Master of Divinity (M.Div.) at Metropolitan College of Theology is a graduate degree of the pastoral profession that prepares students for lay and ordained ministry. It is recommended for students seeking a comprehensive preparation for Christian Ministry and is generally thought of as a degree for those interested in Pastoral Ministry. In four academic years of study, the student is exposed to the complete range of theological disciplines which includes biblical, theological, historical, contextual, formational, and practical ministry studies. Persons in leadership roles which assume broad knowledge of the church's faith, tradition and practice should consider this program.

The student will engage in Degree Concentration Courses (Tracking Courses) in which to focus their pursue of the M.Div. that separates or individualize this particular degree from the other three degrees that are offered at Metropolitan College of Theology (Christian Ministry, Biblical Study, Theology Degree). Being that the M.Div. at Metropolitan College of Theology is intended for those interested in various kinds of ministry; the Degree Concentration Courses identify areas of ministry such as:

- 1.) Ministering to Personal Needs
- 2.) What God Has to Say About Marriage
- 3.) Family Values
- 4.) How to Cook For The Whole Church
- 5.) Pastoral Ministry
- 6.) Church Government
- 7.) Church Administration
- 8.) Biblical Counseling
- 9.) Church Leadership

The concentration courses are courses that are specific to the student's major, unlike the core courses that are required courses taken before the concentration courses. These courses focus on developing analytical tools and knowledge that supports the Degree Concentration/Tracking Courses.

- 1.) Christian Education
- 2.) Christian Ethics
- 3.) Effective Evangelism
- 4.) Christian Philosophy
- 5.) Introduction to Missiology
- 6.) World Religion
- 7.) Apologetics

Advisors and faculty will help guide students in the process of selecting a track. Students will be encouraged to take responsibility for their own learning, identify performance goals, seek constructive feedback, and grow competent in their chosen field of ministry. Students will choose electives based on ministry goals and potential ministry settings.

This program meets the educational requirements for ordained ministry in most major protestant denominations. Within the framework of a curriculum of required course work in biblical studies, history, theology, ethics, field education, formation for leadership, cultural resources for ministry, and ministerial practices for leadership. We encourage students to pursue an understanding of their own faith tradition in light of global, ecumenical, and interdisciplinary concerns, institutions, and movements represented at Metropolitan College of Theology.

The goal of the M.Div. program is to provide students with:

1. The ability to draw critically on the biblical Christian heritage and resources of contemporary society, to strengthen your spiritual and ministerial formation, and effective leadership abilities;
2. Insight and skill for communicating Christian faith and ethics through preaching, teaching, speaking, writing, personal embodiment, and other appropriate means;
3. The capacity, experience, and willingness to assume leadership in social change on behalf of the prophetic witness of the Christian tradition, and its commitment to justice and love;
4. Knowledge, experience, skill and willingness to lead faith communities in worship as well as preparation and practice in caring ministries;
5. An academic foundation for life-long learning as well as further degree work.

The M.Div. stands in contrast to the Master of Theological and Biblical Studies, the usual academic degrees in the subject which tend not to include "pastoral" but yet carries the same fundamental or foundational courses found in theological and Biblical studies.
