

Principal's Desk January 20, 2017

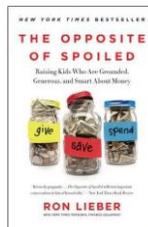

Dear Burr Parents,

An update on Twitter. We now have 20 followers. Please search for BearsBurr and request to follow us. Our Twitter logo is on the Burr website. Also, please note that we will not be putting any photographs on our Twitter feed with individual student faces. We will also avoid any references to specific students. This, of course, is for safety reasons.

I would encourage you also to join our Lino Board for our parent book – The Opposite of Spoiled. The following link will take you to the board and allow you to respond to posted questions.

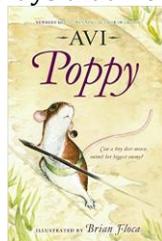

<http://linoit.com/users/JBluestein/canvases/Parent%20Book%20Discussion%20Board>

It's a great way to participate in a discussion about the book even if you can't make it into school to discuss it in person. The following question is posted. We would love your response. If your child asked you how much money you make, how would you respond?

Below is a link from the district to a draft of the pre-k-12 science documents and feedback form. As the district revises the science curriculum, I would encourage you to take a look and offer your thoughts. <http://fairfieldschools.org/curriculum-instruction/subjects/science/>

Finally, Monday is our kickoff assembly for Burr's One Book, One School program. This year we will be reading Poppy by Avi. It is a wonderful – really a classic – book about the journey of a mouse named Poppy. Every family will be getting one copy of the book on Monday (thank you to the PTA) along with a reading schedule and a list of ways that we would appreciate your help and support.

This reading celebration of this text will be happening for the next month, and we are very excited to work with you to share this amazing book with your children. More to come on Monday. Look for a handout in your child's backpack!

Have a terrific weekend!

Jason