Divine Mother I hear you calling me

Holy Goddess I taste your love

Your grace and wisdom washes over me

Cleansing my body and my soul

And oh I surrender letting go of control and now I remember

It is through your precious love that I am whole

Divine Mother I am your daughter

Holy Goddess I am your son

This is the end to separation

As we embrace the truth we are one

And oh I surrender letting go of control and now I remember

It is through your precious love that I am whole

These are the hands of the Goddess

She makes the plans for you and me

These are the arms of the Mother

She holds the key to this mystery

And oh I surrender letting go of control and now I remember

It is through your precious love that I am whole
