An event, such as marriage, divorce, birth, death, or change in employment status, is considered a Qualifying Life Event (QLE) and provides you with the opportunity to change your health coverage outside of Open Season. You generally have 60 days from the date of the event to make a change.

Missing this opportunity to make a change could mean wasting money or not having the needed coverage for a family member. Don't wait—if you recently experienced a QLE or expect to in the near future—make sure to take action!
