Good Works start Tuesday

Sunday, December 6, 2015 1:02:18 EST PM

Precious Blood Cathedral officially opens the Centre for Social Justice and Good Works on Tuesday.

A concert at the Catholic church on Queen Street East begins the celebration at 6:30 p.m.

A blessing and reception follows at the centre on Herrick Street, the former Sacred Heart convent.

Admission is the promise of doing a good deed, a release says.

In a letter to parishioners in June, pastor Rev. Hamish Currie said the centre's role is "to provide individuals with the opportunity to understand, develop and actualize their individual potential through leadership training and mentoring in justice and good works."

Christina Coutu is executive director of the ecumenical project.

The centre is part of the cathedral's planned Journey project.

The $4-million venture, announced in September 2013, includes a columbarium, gardens and a 5,500-square-foot building.
