

🇺🇸 WHAT WERE THEY THINKING? – Episode 3

By Steve Bakke 🇺🇸 January 31, 2020

The more I dig into my “absurdity file,” the more fun it gets. I decided to do it again this week.

- AOC’s (NY democrat congresswoman) theory on manufacturers: “You didn’t make those widgets! You sat on a couch while thousands of people were paid modern-day slave wages and, in some cases, real modern-day slavery...You made that money off the backs of undocumented people...No one ever makes a billion dollars. You take a billion dollars.”
- The Corwin Company developed a school curriculum that’s becoming the new standard. Culturally responsive teaching practices is the goal. It’s easy to interpret from statements and teaching materials that differences in academic performance have little to do with culture or effort – rather it’s totally due to racism. (Really?)
- “We agree that when the elections themselves are threatened by enemies foreign or domestic, we cannot wait until the next election to address the threat.....We cannot rely on an election to solve our problems.” – House Judicial Committee Chairman Jerry Nadler’s reaction to why they don’t want to just leave it up to the voters – i.e. “we the people.”
- Regarding “obstruction of Congress” charges, Chairman Nadler reminds us that Nixon turned over the Watergate tapes. But what he didn’t say is that Nixon did that only after the House went to court to obtain a ruling against Nixon. The matter was eventually decided by the Supreme Court that Nixon had to turn over the tapes.
- And here is Nadler exhibiting some of his prescient qualities: “I think the case we have, if presented to a jury, would be a guilty verdict in about three minutes flat.”
- One of the democrats’ House impeachment witnesses, Stanford Professor Pam Karlan, was quoted declaring she once crossed to the other side of the street to avoid walking close to a Trump hotel. How about that for impartial witness! Did they think no one would find out? Actually, she’s a known liberal activist.
- Joe Biden referring to Trump and his supporters: “.....this president and his Ku Klux Klan.....” Assuming that statement would impress minorities seems to be a racist action all by itself.
- “We talk about [abortion] so negatively.....Get one! See how you feel.....You know how people say you can’t play god? I walked out of there being like, ‘move over Morgan Freeman, I am God!’” – “comedian” Michelle Wolf.
- According to the Equal Access Act of 1984, if a school allows non-curricular clubs, they also must allow religious clubs. Or so we thought. Last summer, Roy C. Ketcham High School decided to permit Gay Pride clubs but that was followed by a student’s formal application to start a Christian club to do charitable fundraisers. The Christian request was denied.
- “Puppies aren’t separated from their moms until – 8 weeks.....One of the most common lengths of U.S. paid family leave is approximately 6 weeks. So yes.....on parental leave, ‘the market’ treats people worse than dogs” – Rep Alexandria Ocasio-Cortez. (I wish I could ask AOC, about how this relates to treatment of preborn babies?)

- Hideous murders recently occurred in Jersey City, New Jersey. Representative Rashida Tlaib (D-MI) quickly reacted with: “This is heartbreaking. White supremacy kills!” Apparently, nobody told her that the assailants were actually black supremacists.
- After permitting drag queens to host “story hour,” an Austin Texas approved a drag queen prostitute to visit the school. Her name was “Miss Kitty Litter ATX.” They are probably still figuring out how this happened.
- These “story hour” events are designed for children aged 3 to 8. They are intended to capture children’s imagination and help children explore their gender fluidity through “glamorous, positive, and unabashedly queer role models.” That’s how The Daily Signal recently described what we would find on the Drag Queen Story Hour’s official website.
- “Let’s be clear: Transgender equality is the civil rights issue of our time. There is no room for compromise when it comes to basic human rights.” – Joe Biden
- “[Bill Clinton] was sleeping with Lewinsky. This guy [President Trump] is sleeping with Putin. It’s a little different.” – Joy Behar of “The View.” Is she jealous of Lewinsky, or is it Putin she craves?
- ABC News reported that there’s some concern among progressives that global warming could put women and newborn’s at risk of giving birth early. Is this the same group that seems comfortable with aggressive use of elective abortion – even at full term?

You can’t make this stuff up!
