PRESIDENT'S COLUMN

It was nice to get a break from SoN activities in July but we are off and running for a busy autumn. We have a waffle breakfast on the 24th and we will be Singing in the Rain at the melodrama in Cripple Creek on the 31st.

Preparations for the 40th Anniversary Dinner and Dance are complete. You only need to give James Hansen $20.00 by September 11 for good time. 48 people will get their 5, 10, 15, etc year pins. There will be special recognition of the founders of Fjellheim and music by the Squeeze Players. Our special guests will be the District 6 (AZ, CA, CO, NM, NV, UT) board members, so dress nice.

You know crisp weather and fall colors are on their way because we have ordered lutefisk for the November dinner and we are starting to make lefse next month.

September is the month to appoint the nominating committee. With luck, the present officers will stay on for another year and the committee will have an easy time of it. Your encouragement of the officers may make that happen. I would say hug an officer but being of Norwegian ancestry, a handshake will have to do.

Thank you to all the members who gave $20 or more to help with the chair purchase. Larry will continue taking twenty dollar bills as long as we can find a way to help. To those who have donated and to those planning to in the future, Tusen Takk.

Hilsen, Michael

CULTURAL SKILLS PROGRAM

I hope all of you are familiar with the Sons of Norway Cultural Skills Program. There are fourteen units to choose from as you explore your cultural heritage. They range in subjects from Rosemaling and Hardanger embroidery to genealogy and stamp collecting, and many more. The applications and guidelines are available online at www.sonsofnorway.com or just let me know if you are interested in the printed versions. Some of your Lodge members are working towards or have achieved several pins this year. The Hardanger group meets at the Senior Center and there is a Rosemaling class and a Book Group that meet at the Lodge. It is fun to work within a group and share our experiences but not necessary. One can work on the programs alone. I am available to help with the application process. If you have some expertise to share in any of the Cultural Skills please call me at 719-264-0955.

TIME FOR A FINANCIAL REBOOT

This was part of a headline in The Wall Street Journal on Sunday, August 4.

The Dow Jones Industrial Average is up about 19% year-to-date and that could put the equity portion of your portfolio top heavy. If the market turns, you may not be happy with this percent at risk. This would be a good time to have a "Financial Check-up" and to consider an investment that would have a guaranteed return of principle and a guaranteed interest rate. Before you shift any investment, you always have to be wary of taxes. If you would like to sit down and discuss some options that Sons of Norway has to offer, just give me a call. There is never an obligation, just a cup of coffee.

THE SUNNY CORNER

We wish all who are celebrating birthdays and anniversaries this month a wonderful day and many memories. The month of September is going to be busy. I hope you all come out and help celebrate Fjellheim's 40th Anniversary celebration. It should be a wonderful event.

Marge Erickson has had rotator cuff surgery on August 8 and is recovering. Denny Laux is also recovering from surgery. Elaine Hellem is scheduled for surgery on September 4th. Please keep them all in your thoughts and prayers as they go through the process of medical treatment and recovery.

Dean and Brenda Tollefson's niece in Idaho died as a result of a kayaking accident. Ginny Johnson's sister passed away in California. Our sincerest condolences go out to them during these difficult times and know that you are in our thoughts and prayers.

A little poem to lighten your day:

*Give me a sense of humor,
The grace to see a joke,
To get some humor out of life,
And pass it on to other folk.*

WORKING TOGETHER FOR YOU!

Sons of Norway's fraternal and financial arms work together to strengthen the organization as a whole. The 18 Norwegian immigrants who signed on as charter members of Sons of Norway in 1895 had come together for mutual assistance. Not only did they want to provide security for their families against financial crisis, but they also wanted a forum to preserve the culture and heritage of Norway as they assimilated to their new home.

More than a century later, providing financial security for members, combined with opportunities to celebrate Norwegian heritage and culture, is still the core of Sons of Norway. The organization's financial products and cultural programs are more intertwined and codependent than many realize. Both components are critical to Sons of Norway's existence and success. The contribution each brings to the organization gives Sons of Norway the strength it needs to be a financial and cultural resource for members now and for decades to come.

Do You Know?

- Only about 30% of all members own an insurance and annuity product through Sons of Norway, but all members benefit from the financial results of those products.
- Income from dues provides only half of the funding necessary to support fraternal programming. The rest of what is needed comes from the sale of our financial products. Without this support, member dues would be significantly higher.
- Sales of our insurance and annuity products provide approximately $1 million annually that is dedicated to Fraternal offerings like Viking magazine, the Cultural Skills Program, the Sports Medal Program and more. Without the profits from our insurance operations, member benefits such as these could be drastically reduced in quality and scope, or eliminated entirely.
- Financial Benefits Counselors (FBCs) are SofN members. They help plan and work events, and participate in lodge activities. Many as lodge officers.
- Approximately 20% of new members are recruited by FBCs each year.
- New Membership Dinners, funded through the financial side of the organization, provide up to $400 per dinner to help lodges recruit new members.
- The Lodge Revenue Sharing Program provides funds directly to the lodge based on the insurance participation of its members. Funds are distributed annually in the spring.

By taking advantage of the fraternal aspects and our financial products, members will build a solid future for the organization and for themselves. Please remind your members of the importance of financial side of the organization to their Sons of Norway membership experience.

Expressing your support for the financial side of Sons of Norway, having a positive working relationship with the Financial Benefits Counselor assigned to your lodge, and stressing the codependence between the fraternal and financial arms of the organization can do a lot to create a positive perception in members' minds.

GUSTAV VIGELAND'S PARK

Vigeland Park is the world's largest sculpture park created by one single artist and it is open every day throughout the year. This unique sculpture park is Gustav Vigeland's lifework with more than 200 sculptures in bronze, granite, and wrought iron. Vigeland was also responsible for the design and architectural layout of the park which stretches across 20 square miles. Vigeland's park was completed mainly between the years of 1939 and 1949.

Most of the sculptures are placed in five large units along an 850 meter (2,788 feet) long axis: The main gate, the bridge with the children's place, the fountain, the monolith plateau and the wheel of life.

In 1924 Vigeland moved into an apartment at Frogner in Oslo. There he lived a quiet and regular life together with his wife Ingerid, whom he married in 1922. He became completely involved in his work and was rarely seen out in public. At night he would sit mainly in the library where he would draw, read or wood carve. Vigeland lived at Frogner until his death in 1943.

Vigeland did not live to see the finished park. Not until around 1950 were most of the sculptures and architectural elements in place. The municipality of Oslo was the largest contributor to the realization of the artist's vision but there were also a number of private donors and companies that gave generous financial support so that Norway's capital could have a park that would be unmatched across the world.

Vigeland molded all of the sculptures in the park by hand from full size clay. Carving in clay and casting in bronze were left to a number of skilled craftsmen. In addition, Vigeland stood by for the architectural design and landscaping of the 300 acre plus parkland.

Today Vigeland's Park and its 212 sculptures, the last built in 2002, are unique to the international scene. In the winter the Bymiljøetaten ski trail is prepared in the park which surely makes Frogner Park the world's only park where you can enjoy skiing surrounded in a sculptural landscape. Frogner Park is the most visited tourist attraction in Norway. Between 1.5 and 2 million people visit the park each year.

EDITOR'S NOTE: During our trip to Norway this summer we spent an afternoon in the Vigeland Park. The kids really enjoyed trying to duplicate the poses of some of the statues.

FROM THE GREAT SCANDINAVIAN BAKING BOOK

by Beatrice Ojakangas
Makes one 9-inch pie

Although this is called a "pie" in Norway, we would think of it as a cake. Incredibly simple to make, it's a perfect last-minute dessert when fresh apples are in season.

1 egg
¾ cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
1 teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ cup all-purpose flour
½ cup chopped almonds
3 medium-sized tart apples, pared, cored and diced

Topping

1 cup whipping cream
2 tablespoons powdered sugar

Preheat oven to 350°F. Butter a 9-inch pie pan generously. Stir all the pie ingredients together in a bowl until blended. Mixture will be stiff. Spoon into the pie pan. Bake 30 minutes or until browned. To serve, cut into wedges. Whip the cream with the powdered sugar to accompany the cake or serve with ice cream.

MUNCH MORE THAN AN ARTIST

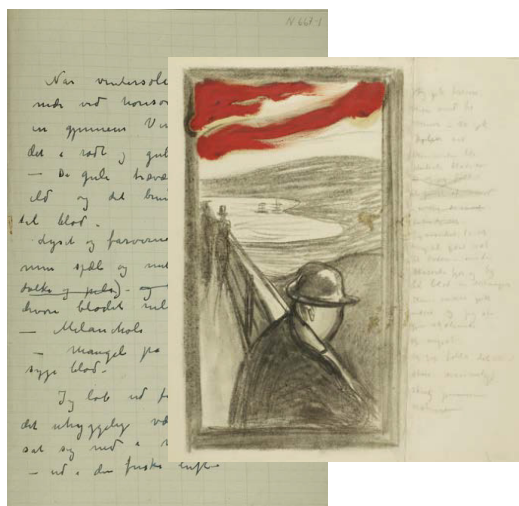

Edvard Munch is undoubtedly Norway's most famous artist. His iconic and evocative works of art continue to make waves 120 years after their creation. For instance, his most widely recognized piece, "The Scream," sold at auction for a world-record breaking $119.9 million to an American buyer in 2012. This year will be a year full of Munch celebration, as he will be commemorated with a series of comprehensive exhibitions, events, and programs recognizing the 150th anniversary of his birth.

What is lesser known about this prominent Norwegian figure is that in addition to his artworks, Munch was also a writer. Philosophical speculations, plays and drafts of novels are among the 13,000 handwritten pages housed in the Munch Museum after being willed to the city of Oslo following Munch's death in 1944. Included in these pages are writings about his paintings, including "The Scream," "The Sick Child" and "Madonna."

One of the first people to gain access to many of Munch's writings, pianist Ketil Bjørnstad, likens the process to asking for access to a bank vault, citing intense secrecy when he sought out the texts to create an album of Munch's words set to music in 1993. Bjørnstad believes it is a "disgrace" that the public is not aware of the artist's skills as a writer. Bjørnstad asserts that "Munch's literary works are far more than background material" and at their best they measure up to Swedish playwright and novelist Johan August Strindberg.

The Munch Museum maintains that Munch's texts were previously unavailable due to a clause in the inheritance that specifies that texts should only be read by "understanding, broad-minded people" after Munch's death. In recent years the interpretation of the clause has been weakened and as a result roughly 70% of Munch's writings were made available online as part of the museum's digitalization project.

To enjoy English translations of Munch's writings or to view his original diary and sketchbook entries, visit <http://www.emunch.no/english.xhtml>
