

I've heard that enthusiastic collectors will pay thousands of dollars for a moon rock. Why? Because of its intrinsic value? No. Because of where it was found. Otherwise it's an ordinary rock. Gold is no more useful than other metals—say iron or steel. But by convention its value is universally recognized. How do we determine a thing's value? By what someone is willing to pay for it. By that measure we Christians are enormously valuable! Not in ourselves, perhaps; but in the eyes of God, where it counts. "...the life I now live in the flesh I live by faith in the Son of God who loved me and gave Himself for me" (Gal. 2:20b). The Father paid an exorbitant price for you: He "gave His Only-begotten Son." So you don't have the right to feel unworthy when you approach Him in prayer. To Him you are most precious. All for Jesus, Richard
