Thank you for taking the time to involve your 6th, 7th and 8th grade students in the 2016 “Do the Write Thing Challenge.” Starting this fall, you will be joined by thousands of other classroom teachers from across the United States in a coordinated, unique effort to give students the opportunity to communicate their thoughts on the impact of youth violence on their lives and to make personal commitments to reduce violence. This program can make a very positive difference in your relationship with your students and help reduce the level of violence in your school. According to a Chicago teacher, “The Do the Write Thing Challenge Program is responsible for one of the most important things that happened in a classroom during all the years I have been a teacher. After the children had the opportunity to write on the issue of violence, discussion in the classroom became open and extraordinarily emotional. The ultimate result was positive beyond a teacher’s wildest expectations.”

The School Ambassadors from your school and their parents, teachers and principal will be honored at a recognition ceremony hosted by your local “Do the Write Thing” Committee. The writings of the School Ambassadors will be published and distributed to local policymakers. Finally, National Ambassadors will be selected.

In July of 2016, if your student is selected as a National Ambassador, you will be invited by the National Campaign to Stop Violence to attend the “Do the Write Thing Challenge” National Recognition Week in Washington, D.C. (travel and accommodations included). During previous National Recognition Weeks, “Do the Write Thing” National Ambassadors have met with a United States Supreme Court Justice, the United States Secretary of Education, the Attorney General of the United States, the United States Secretary of the Interior, Members of Congress and other prominent Americans to discuss the problem of youth violence. In addition, the students were honored at an embassy reception hosted by the Ambassador from the State of Kuwait to the United States and the book of their writings was placed in the Library of Congress, ensuring that the student’s words will be available to all. For more information about the National Recognition Week please go to www.dtw.org.

Enclosed is a packet titled Instructions for Classroom Teachers, which explains this year’s “Do the Write Thing Challenge” in more detail. This packet includes information about program rules, entry deadlines, selection criteria, classroom discussion and student recognition. All of this information can also be downloaded at our website, www.dtw.org. In addition, a video highlighting the National Recognition Week can be viewed. Note that the deadline for the submission of student writings to your principal's office is 5:00 PM on Friday, March 4, 2016.

If you have any questions, please call Lisa Cone at 1-800-256-0235. Thank you again for participating in this year’s program. We wish your students success and hope to see you and one of your students in Washington, D.C. next July.
