

awareness + impact for people with Down syndrome

Funding Futures Chicago is an annual fundraiser dedicated to funding cognitive research aimed at improving, learning, memory, speech and ultimately independence for people with Down syndrome. We do this by raising money for the LuMind Foundation which uses these funds to stimulate biomedical research at preeminent institutions including the Stanford School of Medicine, Johns Hopkins University, and Emory University.

6th Annual Funding Futures Chicago

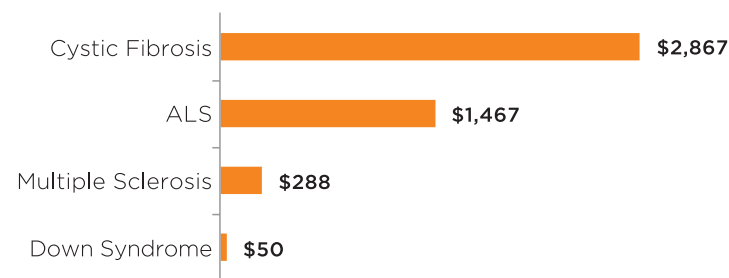

Saturday, January 27, 2018, 7:00 pm at FitzGerald's (just south of Oak Park)

Fabulous food, Goose Island craft beers, wine, spirits, live music, silent auction

Together we can make a real impact

- A 15% improvement in IQ for most people with Down syndrome can mean the difference between living an independent life – or not.
- Researchers at leading universities are demonstrating that with advances in genetic research a 15% IQ improvement is within reach.
- Yet, Down syndrome research is dramatically under-funded by the NIH, making private support critically important.
