

Dementia Awareness Week

Dementia can happen to anyone and there's currently no cure. It can strip you of your memory, your relationships and your connection to the world you love, leaving you feeling isolated and alone.

At Alzheimer's Society, we believe that life doesn't end when dementia begins, and we do everything we can to help people living with dementia hold onto their lives and the things they love for longer.

We also believe it's possible to do new things and have new experiences, too. And that's what this year's Dementia Awareness Week is all about.

Dementia Awareness Week 2015 takes place between 17-23 May.

Meet Ken, Margaret and Ian

These three inspirational people demonstrate that with the right support, it's still possible to enjoy life with dementia.

#DoSomethingNew this Dementia Awareness Week

Join in and help spread the word that life doesn't end when dementia begins.

Get Dementia Awareness Week resources

Ken, Margaret and Ian feature on our posters. You can support us by downloading and displaying these posters during the week.

5

things you should know about dementia

Five things you should know about dementia

Get the facts and dispel the myths about dementia, helping us to increase understanding and awareness.

Other ways to support Dementia Awareness Week

Find out how you can get involved in Dementia Awareness Week 2015.

Get involved with Alzheimer's Society

There are lots of ways you can get involved and support us, from fundraising and volunteering to campaigns, challenges and events.